U.S. To Note Thanksgiving With Rites, Big Dinners

Ohio Assembly To Convene Monday on Idle Pay Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle with the solid backing of Democrats in both houses, has called a special lame-duck session of the Ohio legislature to consider an emergency extension of the state's unemployment compensation benefit period.

The special session will open at 11 a.m. Monday, and will consider only the unemployment benefits problem. DiSalle said he issued the call Tuesday on the grounds that "I believe this is something that is necessary and would be helpful" in dealing with Ohio's mounting unemployment problem.

DiSalle said Ohio's unemployment situation is markedly worse than in other states, especially in the last two weeks. The Democratic governor said unemployment in Ohio now stands at 5.7 per cent of the work force covered by unemployment insurance—and he expects it to go higher in late winter before any downward trend is noted. The national average, DiSalle said, is 4.4 per cent.

Meanwhile, the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation issued its weekly bulletin on claims, reporting that new claims for the week ended Nov. 19 climbed from 23,274 to 27,511. Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more, the bureau said, increased from 124,110 to 139,473 in the week ended Nov. 19.

The average number of new claims filed weekly in November of last year was 21,395, and that of continuing claims on file 90,936.

The emergency clause DiSalle proposes would make an extra 13 weeks of benefits available immediately to still - unemployed Ohioans who have exhausted their regular 26 weeks of benefits since last Jan. 1. His proposed extender would end automatically next March 21.

A two-thirds vote—93 in the House and 22 in the Senate — is needed to pass such an extender. Although the Democratic members of both houses have promised their support of the measure, it cannot pass without Republican votes as well. DiSalle issued the special-session call even though he lacked Republican assurances of backing the emergency clause—which would make the extender effective immediately—or even that they will go for the bill itself.

Apparently DiSalle's decision to call the special session was reached during a noon-hour conference with legislative leaders, including Sen. Frank W. King, D-Lucas, and Rep. James A. Lantz, D-Fairfield, Senate majority leader and House speaker, respectively, of the present legislature, and Senate Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, and Rep. Roger Cloud, R-Logan.

Mechem and Cloud told DiSalle they could not forecast how the Republican members of either house will vote on the extender bill. As a result, they said, they were in no position to assure the governor of favorable or unfavorable GOP reaction.

DiSalle insisted, however, that "I'm not asking assurances. I simply would like your opinion."

Cloud said he would not oppose submission of the question to a special session. Mechem said nothing along that line.

In a news conference in which he announced the special session call, DiSalle noted that only one member of the legislature voted against a similar 13-week benefit extender proposed in 1958 by former Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill. DiSalle said the emergency extender he's asking now is exactly the same as the O'Neill bill—with the exception of the dates.

DiSalle said that when O'Neill proposed his extender the number of unemployed Ohioans covered by the benefit law as 146,00 and falling. Now, the governor asserted, the number is nearly 145,000 and rising.

DiSalle told the legislative leaders he wants the extender as a preventive measure against a serious recession—as "a stabilizer of the economy."

"This month—the month before Christmas—is important to everyone, the wage earners and the retailers," the governor said. "If we let this month slip by, we might not be able to recapture the situation after the first of the year.

"This (extender) will have a tendency to bring a halt to rising unemployment create stability and assurance. It might even stop depletion of the (unemployment insurance) trust fund."

Cloud seemed most concerned with the stability of the trust fund. But DiSalle insisted the figures available to him indicate the extender plane he is offering will cost the fund only slightly less than $26 million more than the normal load.

Sleep Beauty Confession Is Trial Target

CLEVELAND (AP) — Opposing attorneys in the "sleeping beauties" case focused their attention today on an alleged confession by Mrs. Lillian Fratantonio.

Thomas L. Osborne, assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor, offered as evidence late Tuesday the statement in which, according to police, Mrs. Fratantonio admitted feeding sleep-inducing drugs to two daughters. Attorneys for the 29-year-old mother of five objected immediately, indicating they would oppose admission of the statement when the trial resumed today.

The attractive, dark-haired woman is charged with mistreating her daughters Venita, 6 and Bernadette, 3, by giving them unauthorized drugs that kept them in a mysterious slumber at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Mrs. Fratantonio has repudiated the statement she gave police who questioned her after it was found that barbiturates caused the children's condition.

Detective William P. Meuller testified Tuesday that Mrs. Fratantonio admitted drugging the children when police questioned her at St. Ann Hospital, where she was confined after the birth of a third daughter, Antonine, last August.

Mueller said Mrs. Fratantonio answered "yes" when police asked her, "Did you do these things to your children?"

The detective then told the jury a typewriter was brought in to take down the two-page statement from Mrs. Fratantonio in the presence of her husband, Vincent, 33, a brewery company employe.

Cat Clobbered, Can't Appear In Court Case

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP)—For the ninth time, his owner says, Herman, the cat with a courtroom appointment, has been beaten up.

Herman is too battered to keep the court appearance scheduled for today.

Herman's owner, Mrs. Russell H. Bowler, said she found Herman in a neighbor's garage Tuesday, suffering from multiple cuts on his ears, throat and head, not to mention bruises on head and body.

Somebody tried to kill him with a baseball bat, Mrs. Bowler declared in anger. Others took the view Herman had been talking to another cat when he should have been listening.

Herman is due to appear in Superior Court, when he's feeling better, in connection with a request for an injunction sought by the neighboring owners of Siamese cats, Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Cook.

They are asking the court for a $3,500 damage award and an injunction to make Herman quit bothering the female cats and Mrs. Cook.

U.S. Launches Weather-Eye Into Space

Tiros Satellite Totes 2 TV Cameras for Reports on Clouds

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States rammed into orbit today a camera-carrying Tiros satellite designed to be the world's first working weatherman in space.

The 280-pound satellite—Tiros II —roared away from this missile test center at 6:13 a. m. in the nose of a 92-foot Thor-Delta rocket.

Two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that the satellite was in orbit.

A NASA statement said: "Initial calculations show a perigee of 415 statute miles and apogee of 435 miles. The orbital period is 98 minutes."

This is very close to the orbit sought.

The variation of only 20 miles between the near point and the far point of the orbit indicated that the satellite is in the most nearly circular orbit of any satellite yet launched.

The remarkably regular orbit also would indicate a relatively long life for the satellite.

Two television cameras in the satellite were expected to start sending back photos of cloud cover about 8:30 a.m. Weathermen planned to use them in preparation of actual forecasts.

Project officials reported earlier that there was every indication the launching was successful.

The orbit announcement came at 8:20 a.m.

Shortly before that signals from the satellite indicated that a despinning mechanism operated as planned, about 10 minutes after Tiros separated from the third stage.

The satellite at separation was spinning rapidly for stabilization, at about 126 revolutions a minute. Had it continued to turn at this speed, all its pictures would have been blurred.

Two weights attached to cables wound around the satellite were set by a timing mechanism to unwind slowly, gradually reducing the spin to a satisfactory rate.

When completely unwound they were set to drop off automatically.

Should Tiros continue to reduce its spin rate below the nine evolutions a minute required to hold the satellite stable in its orbit, a ground command can fire control rockets to increase the spinning. There are five pairs of these rockets, for a total of five spin speed-ups should they be needed

Ahead of the official NASA announcement that orbit had been achieved, Dr. A. L. Jones of the Sohio Research Laboratory in Cleveland, Ohio, said his tracking equipment had picked up a signal from the satellite on 235 mc at 8 to 8:05 a.m., apparently on completion of the first orbit.

Ohio GOP Told No Easy Road Ahead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican State Chairman Ray C. Bliss says "there is no easy road to victory in the future" for the GOP in Ohio. At a luncheon meeting of the Republican State Committee and county chairmen Tuesday, Bliss said his analysis of the Nov. 8 election returns showed tha Republicans won much of the so-called independent vote in carrying the state for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and GOP candidates generally. But he said the party could not count on holding independents without hard work and acceptable candidates.

Thanksgiving's Drummer Boy

BIG BITE — Nothing whets the appetite like the sight of a big turkey drumstick on Thanksgiving Day. This youngster ties into the gobbler leg with much gusto. Scenes like this will be common in Circleville and Pickaway County tomorrow.

Old Mr. Gobbler Remains Favorite for Thanksgiving

Old Mr. and Mrs. Turkey still remain as the favorite cuisine for the Thanksgiving dinner table.

Many Pickaway County families will celebrate Thanksgiving tomorrow with a traditional dinner. As expected roast turkey heads the food list.

Grocers and poultry farmers in the Circleville area were asked yesterday how many turkeys they expected to sell for the holiday. A final tabulation showed more than 2,000 to be sold in the local trading area before tomorrow.

The Howard Thomas Turkey Farm, Route 2, reported some 25,000 turkeys, raised on the area farm, sold to the Lancaster Poultry Farm. The Lancaster firm dresses the turkeys and distributes them to super markets throughout central Ohio.

* * *

ACCORDING to Thomas, the sale of 32,000 turkeys is anticipated for the Christmas - New Year season.

Local grocery store managers agree that roast chicken will be the next favored dish for Thanksgiving in this area. A few ducks and hams have been ordered, but the favorite for most Pickaway Countians will be the traditional "gobbler."

The Hoover Turkey Farm at Route 3, another producer of fine birds, also reported heavy sales for the coming Thanksgiving feast. Many of the Hoover gobblers are sold locally and several hundred of them probably will appear on tables here tomorrow.

Most local stores report good turkey sales which started early in the week. Grocers said the size of birds purchased varied, with some consumers seeking small ones while others had only the 20-pound plus size in mind.

DiSalle Men Selected as Dem Leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Democratic representatives again have picked James A. Lantz of Fairfield County to be their leader in the upcoming 104th General Assembly.

Lantz was picked unanimously by fellow Democratic members-elect of the new legislature at a caucus open to the press Tuesday. Lantz was speaker of the House in the 103rd General Assembly.

Lantz's only opposition for the minority leader position came from Rep. James J. McGettrick, D-Cuyahoga, who dropped his bid for the post and seconded Lantz' nomination after he failed to line up support following Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's endorsement of Lantz.

McGettrick, minority leader in three former sessions, was aligned with forces of Ray T. Miller of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman who has been at odds with DiSalle over party policy.

Jesse Yoder, D - Montgomery, party floor leader last session, also seconded Lantz' nomination.

Rep. A. G. Lancione D-Belmont, was named Democratic whip for the new session.

When the 104th General Assembly convenes Jan. 2, the Democrats will find themselves the minority party in both houses. The Democrats will have 18 senators to the GOP's 20. The regular 1959 session started with 78 Democrats to 61 Republicans in the House and 20 Democrats to 13 Republicans in the Senate.

Only two members of the Democratic delegation to the House were absent from Tuesday's caucus called by veterans Lancione and Rep. G. D. Tablack, D-Mahoning.

The House caucus followed the Democrats' Senate caucus Monday, when Sen. Frank W. King, D-Lucas, was selected as Senate minority leader for the coming session. King served as Senate majority leader last session when the Democrats controlled both houses.

Both President, President-Elect In Washington

Plenty of Turkey For Folks Wearing Uncle Sam's Uniform

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Millions of Americans will celebrate Thanksgiving Thursday with church rites, special holiday observances, traditional turkey dinners, and college and professional football games.

For most of the country the weather will be fair and mild, with many sections basking in Indian summer temperatures.

Many city dwellers plan to go elsewhere for the holiday and airline, bus and train travel is expected to be extremely heavy—particularly to Florida and Caribbean vacation spots.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower will observe the last Thanksgiving of his administration with a quiet turkey dinner at the White House. The President's son, John, and his family, who usually join in the family party, will have their own turkey dinner at Gettysburg Pa.

President-elect John F. Kennedy also will be in Washington to have Thanksgiving dinner with his wife and daughter Caroline. Caroline will be 3 Sunday but the celebration of her birthday is being moved up so her father can take part. Kennedy plans to fly back to his Palm Beach, Fla., vacation-work headquarters Thursday night.

For the 2,502,145 men and women in Uncle Sam's armed forces there will be plenty of turkey—nearly a pound per person—and the usual trimmings. The Army-Air Force menu, for example, includes shrimp cocktail, roast turkey with giblet gravy, bread dressing and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, orange glazed sweet potatoes, buttered peas, relishes, pumpkin and mince pie and fruit cake, fruits, dates, candy and nuts.

The townspeople of Plymouth Mass., the birthplace of Thanksgiving, will celebrate the holiday with appropriate ceremonies. The high point is re-enactment of the procession of Pilgrims from a spot near the graves of those who died in the first rugged winter of 1620-21 to the First Church for a memorial service. Participants will be garbed in authentic costumes.

In New York City, the annual Macy's parade with its giant balloons, Santa Claus, actress Shirley Jones, comedian Joe E. Brown and child star Lori Martin, is expected to attract thousands.

Ohio Woman Judge Given High Honor

NEW YORK (AP)—Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, retired chief judge of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, received the annual Gallatin Award at a dinner of the Albert Gallatin Associates of New York University Tuesday night.

The award is presented to persons who have made "a contribution of lasting significance to society."

Previous winners were Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the Salk polio vaccine; Dr. Ralph Bunche, undersecretary of the United Nations; and Dr. Marcus Nadler professor of finance at NYU.

Judge Allen, who rose to the highest judicial rank ever attained by a woman in the United States, also served two terms as judge on the Ohio Supreme Court.

Moral for Holiday

NEW YORK (AP) — A moral for Thanksgiving: Be twice as grateful for half as much and you'll be better off than being half as grateful for twice as much.

A NASA statement said: "Initial calculations show a perigee of 415 statute miles and apogee of 435 miles. The orbital period is 98 minutes."

This is very close to the orbit sought.

The variation of only 20 miles between the near point and the far point of the orbit indicated that the satellite is in the most nearly circular orbit of any satellite yet launched.

The remarkably regular orbit also would indicate a relatively long life for the satellite.

Two television cameras in the satellite were expected to start sending back photos of cloud cover about 8:30 a.m. Weathermen planned to use them in preparation of actual forecasts.

Project officials reported earlier that there was every indication the launching was successful.

The orbit announcement came at 8:20 a.m.

Shortly before that signals from the satellite indicated that a despinning mechanism operated as planned, about 10 minutes after Tiros separated from the third stage.

The satellite at separation was spinning rapidly for stabilization, at about 126 revolutions a minute. Had it continued to turn at this speed, all its pictures would have been blurred.

Two weights attached to cables wound around the satellite were set by a timing mechanism to unwind slowly, gradually reducing the spin to a satisfactory rate.

When completely unwound they were set to drop off automatically.

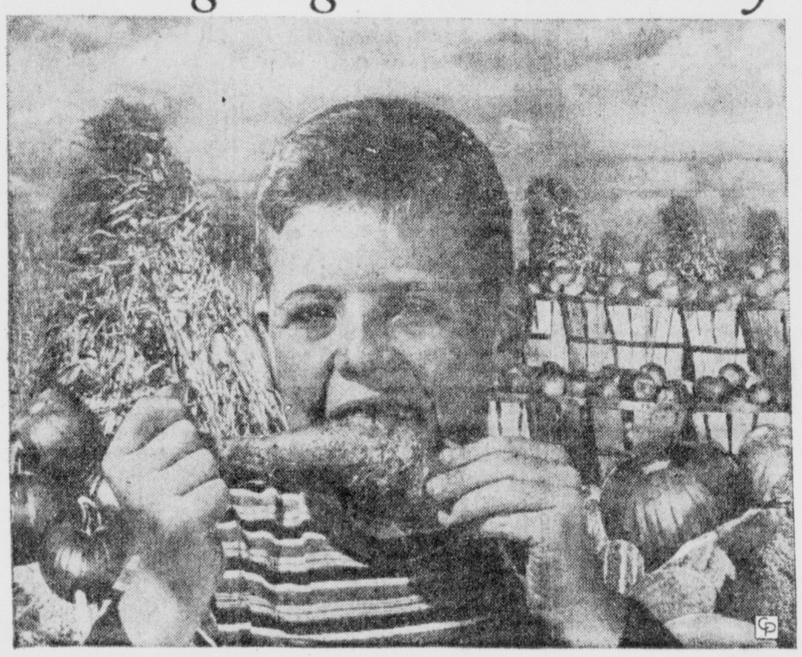

Should Tiros continue to reduce its spin rate below the nine evolutions a minute required to hold the satellite stable in its orbit, a ground command can fire control rockets to increase the spinning. There are five pairs of these rockets, for a total of five spin speed-ups should they be needed

Ahead of the official NASA announcement that orbit had been achieved, Dr. A. L. Jones of the Sohio Research Laboratory in Cleveland, Ohio, said his tracking equipment had picked up a signal from the satellite on 235 mc at 8 to 8:05 a.m., apparently on completion of the first orbit.

Ohio GOP Told No Easy Road Ahead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican State Chairman Ray C. Bliss says "there is no easy road to victory in the future" for the GOP in Ohio. At a luncheon meeting of the Republican State Committee and county chairmen Tuesday, Bliss said his analysis of the Nov. 8 election returns showed tha Republicans won much of the so-called independent vote in carrying the state for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and GOP candidates generally. But he said the party could not count on holding independents without hard work and acceptable candidates.

Thanksgiving's Drummer Boy

BIG BITE — Nothing whets the appetite like the sight of a big turkey drumstick on Thanksgiving Day. This youngster ties into the gobbler leg with much gusto. Scenes like this will be common in Circleville and Pickaway County tomorrow.

Old Mr. Gobbler Remains Favorite for Thanksgiving

Old Mr. and Mrs. Turkey still remain as the favorite cuisine for the Thanksgiving dinner table.

Many Pickaway County families will celebrate Thanksgiving tomorrow with a traditional dinner. As expected roast turkey heads the food list.

Grocers and poultry farmers in the Circleville area were asked yesterday how many turkeys they expected to sell for the holiday. A final tabulation showed more than 2,000 to be sold in the local trading area before tomorrow.

The Howard Thomas Turkey Farm, Route 2, reported some 25,000 turkeys, raised on the area farm, sold to the Lancaster Poultry Farm. The Lancaster firm dresses the turkeys and distributes them to super markets throughout central Ohio.

* * *

ACCORDING to Thomas, the sale of 32,000 turkeys is anticipated for the Christmas - New Year season.

Local grocery store managers agree that roast chicken will be the next favored dish for Thanksgiving in this area. A few ducks and hams have been ordered, but the favorite for most Pickaway Countians will be the traditional "gobbler."

The Hoover Turkey Farm at Route 3, another producer of fine birds, also reported heavy sales for the coming Thanksgiving feast. Many of the Hoover gobblers are sold locally and several hundred of them probably will appear on tables here tomorrow.

Most local stores report good turkey sales which started early in the week. Grocers said the size of birds purchased varied, with some consumers seeking small ones while others had only the 20-pound plus size in mind.

DiSalle Men Selected as Dem Leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Democratic representatives again have picked James A. Lantz of Fairfield County to be their leader in the upcoming 104th General Assembly.

Lantz was picked unanimously by fellow Democratic members-elect of the new legislature at a caucus open to the press Tuesday. Lantz was speaker of the House in the 103rd General Assembly.

Lantz's only opposition for the minority leader position came from Rep. James J. McGettrick, D-Cuyahoga, who dropped his bid for the post and seconded Lantz' nomination after he failed to line up support following Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's endorsement of Lantz.

McGettrick, minority leader in three former sessions, was aligned with forces of Ray T. Miller of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman who has been at odds with DiSalle over party policy.

Jesse Yoder, D - Montgomery, party floor leader last session, also seconded Lantz' nomination.

Rep. A. G. Lancione D-Belmont, was named Democratic whip for the new session.

When the 104th General Assembly convenes Jan. 2, the Democrats will find themselves the minority party in both houses. The Democrats will have 18 senators to the GOP's 20. The regular 1959 session started with 78 Democrats to 61 Republicans in the House and 20 Democrats to 13 Republicans in the Senate.

Only two members of the Democratic delegation to the House were absent from Tuesday's caucus called by veterans Lancione and Rep. G. D. Tablack, D-Mahoning.

The House caucus followed the Democrats' Senate caucus Monday, when Sen. Frank W. King, D-Lucas, was selected as Senate minority leader for the coming session. King served as Senate majority leader last session when the Democrats controlled both houses.

Both President, President-Elect In Washington

Plenty of Turkey For Folks Wearing Uncle Sam's Uniform

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Millions of Americans will celebrate Thanksgiving Thursday with church rites, special holiday observances, traditional turkey dinners, and college and professional football games.

For most of the country the weather will be fair and mild, with many sections basking in Indian summer temperatures.

Many city dwellers plan to go elsewhere for the holiday and airline, bus and train travel is expected to be extremely heavy—particularly to Florida and Caribbean vacation spots.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower will observe the last Thanksgiving of his administration with a quiet turkey dinner at the White House. The President's son, John, and his family, who usually join in the family party, will have their own turkey dinner at Gettysburg Pa.

President-elect John F. Kennedy also will be in Washington to have Thanksgiving dinner with his wife and daughter Caroline. Caroline will be 3 Sunday but the celebration of her birthday is being moved up so her father can take part. Kennedy plans to fly back to his Palm Beach, Fla., vacation-work headquarters Thursday night.

For the 2,502,145 men and women in Uncle Sam's armed forces there will be plenty of turkey—nearly a pound per person—and the usual trimmings. The Army-Air Force menu, for example, includes shrimp cocktail, roast turkey with giblet gravy, bread dressing and cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, orange glazed sweet potatoes, buttered peas, relishes, pumpkin and mince pie and fruit cake, fruits, dates, candy and nuts.

The townspeople of Plymouth Mass., the birthplace of Thanksgiving, will celebrate the holiday with appropriate ceremonies. The high point is re-enactment of the procession of Pilgrims from a spot near the graves of those who died in the first rugged winter of 1620-21 to the First Church for a memorial service. Participants will be garbed in authentic costumes.

In New York City, the annual Macy's parade with its giant balloons, Santa Claus, actress Shirley Jones, comedian Joe E. Brown and child star Lori Martin, is expected to attract thousands.

Ohio Woman Judge Given High Honor

NEW YORK (AP)—Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland, retired chief judge of the U. S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, received the annual Gallatin Award at a dinner of the Albert Gallatin Associates of New York University Tuesday night.

The award is presented to persons who have made "a contribution of lasting significance to society."

Previous winners were Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the Salk polio vaccine; Dr. Ralph Bunche, undersecretary of the United Nations; and Dr. Marcus Nadler professor of finance at NYU.

Judge Allen, who rose to the highest judicial rank ever attained by a woman in the United States, also served two terms as judge on the Ohio Supreme Court.

Agency Bans Special Red Food Coloring

WASHINGTON (AP) — A red food coloring used for maraschino cherries and the casings of some frankfurters has been banned pending further tests of its safety.

The Food and Drug Administration announced the ban Tuesday night, saying more than a year of experiments with dogs and rats have shown the color "produces liver damage in test animals and no safe use level has been established."

No effort will be made, however, to remove from the market foodstuffs already colored with the coal tar dye, designated Red No.1.

John L. Harvey, deputy FDA commissioner, said "the additive is not an acute toxic substance" and "is only used in small amounts in foods, drugs and cosmetics."

Red No. 1 is not used in lipsticks he said. The action to ban the color, however, recalled FDA action against other coal tar colors used in lipsticks. The FDA once ordered them banned but later permitted limited use of them after presumably safe levels had been established.

Fire Blamed For Deaths of 5 Kentuckians

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A pathologist says fire killed five men whose charred bodies were found sitting in a car on lonely Greasy Creek Road in Pike County.

Dr. Frank Cleveland of Cincinnati's Kettering Laboratory examined two of the bodies Tuesday and said death was caused by fire fracture or internal heat.

He also said metal fragments detected by X-rays were not shotgun pellets or bullets, but pieces of metal that had dropped onto the bodies when fragments of the car melted in the fire.

The pathologist all but ruled out foul play, but Pike County officials and state police said their investigations would continue.

The auto, burned inside but not wrecked, was found Sunday morning. Inside were the bodies of Buddy Hopkins, 24; Denver Yates, 25; Buddy's brother, Louie, 16; Harmon Robinson, 42; and Harvey Ratliff, 24.

Dr. Cleveland said the term "fire fracture" referred to cracks in the skulls of fire victims.

These occur after death when bones become dehydrated and crack from charring, the pathologist said, and sometimes are confused with fractures caused from a blow on the head.

Coroner Raymond Call said the bodies were seated when found and the men apparently had made no effort to escape.

Commission Denies B&O Derby Request

The Ohio Utilities Commission has denied an application of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to discontinue having an agent at Derby in Pickaway County and to remove the station building.

Commissioners said that outbound freight forms a high percentage of the B&O's business at Derby and makes the station "one where the close contact and cooperation of an agent is necessary to the shipping public."

Agency Bans Special Red Food Coloring

WASHINGTON (AP) — A red food coloring used for maraschino cherries and the casings of some frankfurters has been banned pending further tests of its safety.

The Food and Drug Administration announced the ban Tuesday night, saying more than a year of experiments with dogs and rats have shown the color "produces liver damage in test animals and no safe use level has been established."

No effort will be made, however, to remove from the market foodstuffs already colored with the coal tar dye, designated Red No.1.

John L. Harvey, deputy FDA commissioner, said "the additive is not an acute toxic substance" and "is only used in small amounts in foods, drugs and cosmetics."

Red No. 1 is not used in lipsticks he said. The action to ban the color, however, recalled FDA action against other coal tar colors used in lipsticks. The FDA once ordered them banned but later permitted limited use of them after presumably safe levels had been established.

Fire Blamed For Deaths of 5 Kentuckians

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A pathologist says fire killed five men whose charred bodies were found sitting in a car on lonely Greasy Creek Road in Pike County.

Dr. Frank Cleveland of Cincinnati's Kettering Laboratory examined two of the bodies Tuesday and said death was caused by fire fracture or internal heat.

He also said metal fragments detected by X-rays were not shotgun pellets or bullets, but pieces of metal that had dropped onto the bodies when fragments of the car melted in the fire.

The pathologist all but ruled out foul play, but Pike County officials and state police said their investigations would continue.

The auto, burned inside but not wrecked, was found Sunday morning. Inside were the bodies of Buddy Hopkins, 24; Denver Yates, 25; Buddy's brother, Louie, 16; Harmon Robinson, 42; and Harvey Ratliff, 24.

Dr. Cleveland said the term "fire fracture" referred to cracks in the skulls of fire victims.

These occur after death when bones become dehydrated and crack from charring, the pathologist said, and sometimes are confused with fractures caused from a blow on the head.

Coroner Raymond Call said the bodies were seated when found and the men apparently had made no effort to escape.

Dollar 'as Good as Gold'?

After Year-Plus of Fussing Ike Down to Brass Tacks

Editors's Note : Following is the last in a series of three articles outlining America's present problems in the world's gold market.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—For more than a year, the Eisenhower administration has been fussing around the edges of the gold problem. Now it is getting down to brass tacks.

Why the sudden emphasis on emergency action when Uncle Sam still owns $18 billion of gold —about half of the free world's total suppy?

It's largely a matter of arithmetic.

First of all, $11.5 of Uncle Sam's gold is tied up by law. It can't leave the country because it backs up part of the U. S. money supply.

That leaves $6.5 billion of gold to meet foreign demand—the demand which the United States must satisfy at all times if the dollar is to remain "as good as gold."

Since Oct. 1, foreign nations have been buying gold at an annual rate of more than $5 billion.

Obviously, Uncle Sam's gold stockpile would run dry in a little more than a year if buying on that scale continued.

To guard against such a development, the Eisenhower administration has invoked controversial new policies which have two primary objectives:

1. To dispel any foreign uncertainty about the dollar by demonstrating that this country will do whatever is necessary to make sure the gold stockpile doesn't run out.

2. To reduce the deficit in the U. S. balance of payments. It is this deficit—$3.8 billion last year—which gives foreigners the money with which to buy American gold. If there were no deficit, there would be no gold problem.

Critics say something must be done to reduce, and eventually eliminate, the payments deficit. It's a question of how to approach the task.

The deficit can be pared either by spending fewer dollars abroad or by collecting more dollars from foreigners.

The best way to collect more dollars is to sell more goods and services in foreign trade. Exports in 1959 brought in $22.5 billion. And the administration's first thought, a year ago, was to boost exports in 1960. Exports have advanced sharply since then but they still fall far short of eliminating the deficit.

Another item on the plus side in 1959 was the repayment of $1 billion in government loans by other nations. These repayments are made according to regular schedules and not much can be done to increase them.

In 1959, foreign visitors spent $900 million in the United States. The government is trying to promote the "visit U.S.A." idea.

Finally, foreigners in 1959 invested $500 million in the United States on a long-term basis. It's questionable whether the U. S. economy is growing fast enough at present to warrant much of an increase.

There you have the major items which work to reduce the payments deficit. There's room for improvement all along the line here—but you can't throw a switch and expect dramatic results.

On the deficit side, the biggest item in 1959 was the $18.8 billion which Americans spent to import civilian goods and services. One way to reduce the deficit would be to restrict imports through quotas or higher tariffs. However that would inspire retaliation against U. S. exports. The government has done nothing in this area.

The next largest item last year was $3.3 billion in government loans and nonmilitary foreign aid. Here there are at least three possible courses of action:

1. Eliminate or reduce the aid and loan programs.

2. Insist that those who receive aid or loan dollars spend them in the United States whenever possible.

3. Urge other nations to bear part of the aid burden.

President Eisenhower has decided that the second and third alternatives are necessary.

The next category is overseas spending under military programs —a $3.1 billion item last year.

In this area, the administration has ordered the gradual return of more than half the 484,000 wives and children who accompany U.S. servicemen to overseas posts. Because these people spend millions overseas, the action is being taken despite its effect on morale.

Also, the government will try to shift more military spending to the United States and persuade the Europeans to pay a larger share of European defense costs.

Two other deficit-reducing possibilities have so far been bypassed. Nothing has been done to reduce American private investment abroad or outlays by American tourists.

Many Americans Did Not Vote

As always, many eligible Americans did not vote. In nations with less feeedom which still have the ballot, the turnout is usually larger than in the United States. Europeans. Many voters are disfranchis- But Americans are more mobile than ed by moving shortly before election day.

Others lose their votes by taking an unexpected trip, or because of the incomvenience involved in voting an absentee ballot. Some voters do not vote because they do not like either candidate, others because they are apathetic and unconcerned. The vote of the uninformed voter can only contribute to good government by accident.

Timing of the elections holds down the total vote. In many parts of the country, early November can produce nasty weather, and invalids and ailing persons may decline a trip to the polls because of their health. There is no solid reason to maintain the November tradition.

Moving the election date up would shorten the campaigns, and perhaps produce a larger vote. Unfortunately, this is one of the issues that is forgotten immediately after every election, until the next even-year November.

Turkey-Carver: a Lonely Soul

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Cooking the Thanksgiving turkey is easy.

Carving it—as everyone knows—is the real art.

When the family has a turkey dinner in a restaurant, everything goes according to Hoyle. Everyone takes the portion dished out to him without complaint, and no one questions the chef's impartiality, judgment or skill.

But when the family has a turkey dinner at home, chaos and rebellion—murmured or shouted—reign from the moment the bird arrives on the table.

The one who reluctantly agrees to do the carving becomes the loneliest human being in the world.

He is one who stands in crisis, ringed by critics. He knows he is in a situation which he can't win. He is bound to give somebody too much light meat or too little dark meat. He endows with a section of drumstick one who passionately yearned for a wing.

His technique is also bound to come under adverse scrutiny. Someone suggests, "Don't you think you'd better—?" and another adds "If I were you, I'd start—."

Here are some types of turkey carvers you've probably seen yourself at family Thanksgiving Day dinners:

1. The Poor Workman—He always begins by blaming his tools. "This knife isn't sharp enough," he says, "and this knife has too long a blade. This knife doesn't have enough tensile strength. This knife doesn—."

2. The Brusque Matriarch—"Oh, give me that knife before you cut yourself," she says as her hapless husband makes a first tentative thrust. She slices and serves with bold confidence, knowing the guests cannot cavil too loudly at the cook.

3. The Malicious Prankster—He solicitously inquires from each guest what part of the turkey he likes best—then gives him something else. This gagster enjoys his little joke, but next Thanksgiving he'll be eating somewnere else.

4. The Cautious Husband—"My dear, you do the honors," he says, handing the knife to his mother-in-law, and knowing then he is safe from all further blame. This guy is the kind of diplomat the United Nations needs.

5. The Showman—He tells a few wisecracks, does a soft shoe dance around the table, then wildly waving the knife like Cyrano de Bergerac dueling against a dozen, he charges against the turkey—and it slides off on the floor. Exit actor.

6. The Artful Host—He invites a brain surgeon as guest plies him with three quick martinis, then, when the turkey is ready, extends the knife and says, "Okay, doc, the patient is ready."

In any case, whoever he is, the carver is the real hero of any family Thanksgiving feast. He is the one who always gets the bird.

A Case of Who Likes Who

By George Sokolsky

It would seem that at this moment there is a renewed campaign in favor of Alger Hiss. The effort is to show that Hiss has suffered martyrdom and is now living in proverty. The inherent appeal in such an article as appears on this subject in "Esquire" magazine, is for compassion and we are a compassionate people.

"Esquire," by caption and the photographic setting as well as the nature of two articles in juxtaposition, shows how Roy Cohn, who had been one of Hiss's adversaries has prospered. The titles are interesting: "The Problems of Alger Hiss" as contrasted with "The Pleasures of Roy Cohn." Hiss is the man of purpose; Cohn the man of pleasure. Why this contrast is made, it is difficult to understand, as Cohn did not benefit from Hiss's miseries nor did Hiss suffer from Cohn's affluence.

Of Hiss it is said:

"At present, Alger Hiss is selling stationery.

"He lives at a water-front address in New York City in a third-floor walk-up, a sad building with a tattered green awning over a vacant store front piled high with empty cardboard cartons, and next door, 'Harry Feldman, Slop Chest. Supplies — Everything for the Sailor.' It looks like the kind of hide out. . .that Whittacker C[illegible]uld [illegible] in his darker days. Last Spring the apartment was robbed . . .the total loot was a $25 ring and a $5 pair of cuff links.

"Since last year he has been separated from his wife, Priscilla."

Of Roy Cohn, it says:

"Roy Cohn is thirty - three now . . .Cohn today is a partner in the New York law firm of Saxe, Bacon, and O'Shea, from which he earns $250,000 a year. He is a major stockholder of The Lionel Corporation, maker of toy trains, fuses, and electronic equipment; a subsidiary manufactures sporting goods and another is a leading producer of missile components. He is one - third owner of Feature Sports Inc., which promoted, among other fights this past year, both of the Johansson - Patterson heavyweight championship bouts.

He is a successful investor in the stock market, owns two middlesized restaurants of no particular distinction in Manhattan, and holds oil leases in Texas, New Mexico and Kentucky..." etc., etc.

What does this contrast mean? It means that Alger Hiss has taken his downfall with bitterness and resentment; it means that Roy Cohn, who was smeared because of his association with Senator Joe McCarthy and who accumulated a host of enemies, went to work to achieve a personal success. One man who felt he was unjustly treated, lives in the past, resents the present and has no future; the other man has gone ahead.

In these articles, Hiss is painted as a Werther and Cohn as a Till Eulenspiegel. It is an interesting contrast but wholly untrue as to Cohn and I presume, not knowing Hiss, that he will one day be released from his missries by finding a place for [illegible]'s talents can still be used in his country's interest.

These tales of two men who took divergent paths may be interesting and therefore they justify some magazine notice. But it is not a true contrast because Roy Cohn's success in business has nothing to do with Alger Hiss's failure as a public servant. Roy Cohn's capabilities are in the fields of law and finance. His father was a ditinguished jurist in New York; his grandfather was a banker. He comes by his abilities naturally. Alger Hiss also is a lawyer and as such has had a brilliant start, but he got caught in the Marxism of the 1930's and went to prison therefor. Cohn avoided such entaglements which apparently shocks 'Esquire' which quotes Richard Rovere as follows:

"In all probability, Cohn's anti-Communism was somewhat less of a caprice and an improvisation than McCarthy's, for Cohn was Jewish and from New York, and at about the time he came to man's estate and participated in the Rosenberg prosecution, it seemed terribly important to many Jews not only to disassociate themselves from Jewish Communists, but to demonstrate a zealous and fiery anti-Communism. . ."

Jewish participation in anti-Communist efforts antedates the Rosenberg case. I refer to the work of Isaac Don Levine, Eugene Lyons Ben Gitlow, Benjamin Stolberg, David Dubinsky, myself and many others. These articles in "Esquire" prove nothing except that some folks like Hiss and some dislike Cohn.

Redistricting Study Panel Being Talked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says that appointment of a commission to study congressional redistricting in Ohio is under consideration.

DiSalle told newsmen Monday that a 12-member commission might make some headway on the complex political problem created by the addition of a 24th congressman to the Ohio delegation because of the state's increased population.

DiSalle said he doubted if the problem could be resolved on a partisan basis in the next session of the legislature, but that a commission might make some progress.

Such a commission, the governor said, might include state chairmen of both parties, Ohio Senate and House leaders of each, senior Democratic and Republican congressmen and citizens who do not hold public office.

DiSalle said he believed redistricting would be better than electing a congressman-at-large in 1962. He said a commission could have a report for the 1961 legislature by next March.

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, Clerk of the Board of Education of the Circleville City School District, herein referred to as the Board, in the County of Pickaway, Ohio at his office at 520 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio, until one o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 8th day of December 1960, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $550,000, authorized by resolution adopted November 14, 1960.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of January, 1961, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall draw interest payable semiannually on the first days of May and November of each year beginning May 1, 1962, at the rate of four per cent per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows:
$25,000 on November 1 of each year in each of the years 1962 to 1983, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of constructing a new elementary school building and additions to and remodelling of existing school buildings, acquiring sites, site improvements and furnishings and equipment.

Said bonds are payable at the office of the legal depositary of the School District, presently First National Bank of Circleville, Ohio, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by the said Clerk by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or check drawn on and certified by a solvent bank (which bank must be one other than the bidder, if the bidder is a bank) payable to the Board, in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and [illegible]orsed "Bid for School Improvement [illegible]nds"

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at the bidder's expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 1:00 o'clock, p.m. on the 8th day of December, 1960, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned, or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if ourside of the limits of the School District the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Missing Farm Leader Said Amnesia Case

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — A member of the State Board of Agriculture who was missing since Sept. 14 has returned home. Merle D. Stacy of Marietta refused to talk to newsmen or officials. But his brother, Lloyd, former state agriculture director said Stacy probably was a victim of amnesia.

According to his brother, Stacy said he remembered driving to Zanesville where he believes he was hit by a car. After he was hit someone put him on a bus for St. Louis, and he later found himself in Homestead, Fla., he related. Stacy can't remember how he found his way home, his brother said.

Stacy's term on the State Board of Agriculture expired 16 days after his disappearance. He was serving out the unexpired term of his brother, who left the board to become agriculture director.

A spokesman for the governor's office in Columbus said no successor to Merle Stacy has been named for the board, and that he probably will continue as a board member until a successor is appointed. There also is the possibility Stacy could be given another term.

A Case of Who Likes Who

It would seem that at this moment there is a renewed campaign in favor of Alger Hiss. The effort is to show that Hiss has suffered martyrdom and is now living in proverty. The inherent appeal in such an article as appears on this subject in "Esquire" magazine, is for compassion and we are a compassionate people.

Why this contrast is made, it is difficult to understand, as Cohn did not benefit from Hiss's miseries nor did Hiss suffer from Cohn's affluence.

Of Hiss it is said:

"At present, Alger Hiss is selling stationery.

Of Roy Cohn, it says:

"Roy Cohn is thirty - three now . . .Cohn today is a partner in the New York law firm of Saxe, Bacon, and O'Shea, from which he earns $250,000 a year. He is a major stockholder of The Lionel Corporation, maker of toy trains, fuses, and electronic equipment; a subsidiary manufactures sporting goods and another is a leading producer of missile components. He is one - third owner of Feature Sports Inc., which promoted, among other fights this past year, both of the Johansson - Patterson heavyweight championship bouts.

He is a successful investor in the stock market, owns two middlesized restaurants of no particular distinction in Manhattan, and holds oil leases in Texas, New Mexico and Kentucky..." etc., etc.

What does this contrast mean? It means that Alger Hiss has taken his downfall with bitterness and resentment; it means that Roy Cohn, who was smeared because of his association with Senator Joe McCarthy and who accumulated a host of enemies, went to work to achieve a personal success. One man who felt he was unjustly treated, lives in the past, resents the present and has no future; the other man has gone ahead.

In these articles, Hiss is painted as a Werther and Cohn as a Till Eulenspiegel. It is an interesting contrast but wholly untrue as to Cohn and I presume, not knowing Hiss, that he will one day be released from his missries by finding a place for [illegible] talents can still be used in his country's interest.

These tales of two men who took divergent paths may be interesting and therefore they justify some magazine notice. But it is not a true contrast because Roy Cohn's success in business has nothing to do with Alger Hiss's failure as a public servant. Roy Cohn's capabilities are in the fields of law and finance. His father was a ditinguished jurist in New York; his grandfather was a banker. He comes by his abilities naturally. Alger Hiss also is a lawyer and as such has had a brilliant start, but he got caught in the Marxism of the 1930's and went to prison therefor. Cohn avoided such entaglements which apparently shocks 'Esquire' which quotes Richard Rovere as follows:

"In all probability, Cohn's anti-Communism was somewhat less of a caprice and an improvisation than McCarthy's, for Cohn was Jewish and from New York, and at about the time he came to man's estate and participated in the Rosenberg prosecution, it seemed terribly important to many Jews not only to disassociate themselves from Jewish Communists, but to demonstrate a zealous and fiery anti-Communism. . ."

Jewish participation in anti-Communist efforts antedates the Rosenberg case. I refer to the work of Isaac Don Levine, Eugene Lyons Ben Gitlow, Benjamin Stolberg, David Dubinsky, myself and many others. These articles in "Esquire" prove nothing except that some folks like Hiss and some dislike Cohn.

Redistricting Study Panel Being Talked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says that appointment of a commission to study congressional redistricting in Ohio is under consideration.

DiSalle told newsmen Monday that a 12-member commission might make some headway on the complex political problem created by the addition of a 24th congressman to the Ohio delegation because of the state's increased population.

DiSalle said he doubted if the problem could be resolved on a partisan basis in the next session of the legislature, but that a commission might make some progress.

Such a commission, the governor said, might include state chairmen of both parties, Ohio Senate and House leaders of each, senior Democratic and Republican congressmen and citizens who do not hold public office.

DiSalle said he believed redistricting would be better than electing a congressman-at-large in 1962. He said a commission could have a report for the 1961 legislature by next March.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed bids will be received by the undersigned, Clerk of the Board of Education of the Circleville City School District, herein referred to as the Board, in the County of Pickaway, Ohio at his office at 520 South Court Street, Circleville, Ohio, until one o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 8th day of December 1960, at which time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of bonds of the Board in the aggregate amount of $550,000, authorized by resolution adopted November 14, 1960.

Said bonds shall be dated the first day of January, 1961, shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall draw interest payable semiannually on the first days of May and November of each year beginning May 1, 1962, at the rate of four per cent per annum. Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest, but not in excess of 6 per cent, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent or a multiple thereof.

Said bonds mature as follows:
$25,000 on November 1 of each year in each of the years 1962 to 1983, both inclusive.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of constructing a new elementary school building and additions to and remodelling of existing school buildings, acquiring sites, site improvements and furnishings and equipment.

Said bonds are payable at the office of the legal depositary of the School District, presently First National Bank of Circleville, Ohio, and are supported by unlimited taxes.

Said bids will be promptly considered, and said bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate will be determined by calculating the total interest to stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom the premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of said highest bids as is chosen by the said Clerk by lot. All bids must be accompanied by a bond or check drawn on and certified by a solvent bank (which bank must be one other than the bidder, if the bidder is a bank) payable to the Board, in the amount of one per cent of the par amount of the bonds bid for, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice, or forfeit the same as liquidated damages in the event said condition is not fulfilled.

Bids shall be sealed and [illegible]orsed "Bid for School Improvement [illegible]nds"

The proceedings for this issue have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Attorneys, Cleveland, Ohio, whose approving opinion may be obtained by the successful bidder at the bidder's expense. A complete transcript of proceedings and the printed bonds will be furnished by the Board, together with a certificate showing no litigation pending or threatened at the time of the delivery, to enjoin delivery or to contest the validity of the bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

In the event the interest on said bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal Income Taxes prior to delivery, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bond or certified check shall be returned without interest.

It is contemplated that the Board will meet at 1:00 o'clock, p.m. on the 8th day of December, 1960, to consider said bids and make an award.

The bonds will be delivered at the office of the undersigned, or such other place as may be agreed on with the successful bidder; if ourside of the limits of the School District the bidder shall pay expense of delivery at that place.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery the Board shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the third day before the proposed tender, of the fact that the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate, and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the said place of delivery, provided however that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such notice has not been given or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12:00 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be in default of any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter and so long as no such tender by the Board shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase; such right to be exercised by delivering to the undersigned (or to his office during business hours) written notice of such cancellation. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The right is reserved to reject bids.

Missing Farm Leader Said Amnesia Case

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — A member of the State Board of Agriculture who was missing since Sept. 14 has returned home, Merle D. Stacy of Marietta refused to talk to newsmen or officials. But his brother, Lloyd, former state agriculture director said Stacy probably was a victim of amnesia.

According to his brother, Stacy said he remembered driving to Zanesville where he believes he was hit by a car. After he was hit someone put him on a bus for St. Louis, and he later found himself in Homestead, Fla., he related. Stacy can't remember how he found his way home, his brother said.

Stacy's term on the State Board of Agriculture expired 16 days after his disappearance. He was serving out the unexpired term of his brother, who left the board to become agriculture director.

A spokesman for the governor's office in Columbus said no successor to Merle Stacy has been named for the board, and that he probably will continue as a board member until a successor is appointed. There also is the possibility Stacy could be given another term.

BOB HOPE nominates as one of his most sure-fire stories—especially when he's entertaining the armed forces—the story of the man who had been cleaning up the elephant enclosure in a circus for 25 years. "This year is just too much," he complained to his wife. "They've just bought 20 more elephants. That makes over 50 for me to clean up after."

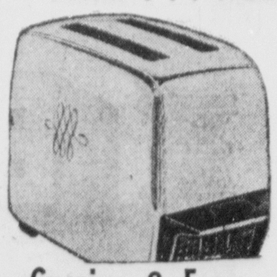

"Why don't you quit?" suggested the wife. "WHAT?" roared he, "and give up SHOW BUSINESS?"

Mrs. Starkey—Average Wife One Day, Paratrooper Next

NOTHING TO IT — Mrs. Andy Starkey, Route 1, is pictured following her first plane ride and first parachute jump in Yuma, Ariz.

By JOAN MACE
HERALD STAFF WRITER

Mrs. Andy Starkey, Route 1, was an average housewife one day — the next she was parachuting from an airplane 2,800 feet over a dessert in Yuma, Ariz.

Mrs. Starkey, former Janet Stuckey, is a 1959 graduate of Williamsport High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stuckey, Route 1.

She married Andy Starkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Starkey, July 9, 1959, in Yuma, Ariz., where he was on duty with the U. S. Army Airborne division.

Mrs. Starkey heard about the civilian parachute club which was going to organize in Yuma.

* * *

SINCE her husband was a paratrooper in the service, she said she would like to go to the meeting.

"I'd like to jump", she said, just kidding. But they took her serious and nine days later, Dec. 6, 1959, she made her first jump.

"I thought I must have been dreaming", she stated. "I didn't think I had enough nerve to go through with it".

But the day arrived following eight hours of ground training for her scheduled jump at an auxiliary airfield about 15 miles from Yuma.

"I still thought I couldn't go through with it", she said, " but a crowd had gathered and a photographer from a local newspaper was on hand, so I couldn't let them down".

Sandwiched between two parachute packs, she turned to her nervous husband and said, "see you on the ground".

* * *

"I DIDN'T say a word once I was in the plane, a tri-pacer", she said. "It just did not seem real".

"Once I was up in the air, and everything ready I just closed my eyes, put my feet out the door and jumped", stated Mrs. Starkey.

"When I opened my eyes my parachute opened and there I was, just gliding in the sky". "All I could think was, I did it". "It was the happiest felling I have ever had", she said.

Mrs. Starkey made a successful no-broken bones landing.

"I called my mother and she refused to believe me" she said. "My father wouldn't even let me ride on a motorcycle, when I was home".

Her third jump was the only one where she received injury. "The wind was blowing rather hard that day and I landed on a run-way strip." "I felt I had broken every bone in my body", she said, "but I was just bruised".

"That cured me from being scared", she stated. Mrs. Starkey made approximately 16 jumps in six months.

She entered in California competition May 7, 1960. Now she is the proud owner of a trophy for the best woman paratrooper.

But the lovely young lady is grounded right now. Not because of broken bones, but she and her husband are expecting the first addition to their family in March.

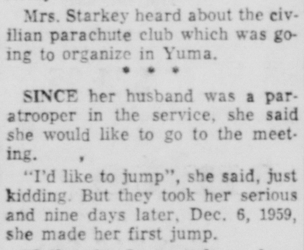

"I plan to make my next jump in April, that is if the doctor will let me", she said.

She and her husband plan to make their home in the Circleville area since his release from the U.S. Army Airborne in September.

"We'd like to form a club for interested local residents", she said.

"Parachute jumping gets in your blood just the way horses or dogs do for some people", Mrs. Starkey stated.

Mais Oui, Madame!

DEAR ABBY: I hid my paper very quickly after reading the many letters from readers who gave various reasons why French poodles made poor pets. You see I have a French poodle, and he doesn't know he's supposed to be high-strung, temperamental and noisy. If he had seen those letters, it might have been disastrous.

MARTHA

DEAR MARTHA: You didn't have to hide the paper. French poodles can't read English.

DEAR ABBY: I've seen many opinions expressed in your column about what to call one's in-laws. Here is how I feel about it: I raised three sons and two daughters. As each was about to be married I let it be known that I was "MRS. BROWN" to the wives and husbands of my children.

The first time I heard my own son call HIS mother-in-law "Mother" it almost broke my heart to think he could call another woman "Mother" while his own mother was still living.

I don't think it's possible to call anyone except one's own parents "Mother and Dad" and be sincere.

MRS. BROWN

DEAR "MRS. BROWN": You have a right to your own opinion, but thank heaven you are in the minority.

DEAR ABBY: Last year when it came time to mail out our Christmas cards, my husband and I had an argument. I put our name and return address on the back of every envelope. My husband said that it looked like we were hinting for them to send US a card. The reason I did it was in case the front of the envelope got smeared and the postman couldn't read the address, the card would be returned to us. I would appreciate it if you would tell me who was right and who was wrong.

PEEVED

DEAR PEEVED: At last I have an opportunity to do something for the post office department: it has done so much for me! You were right. All cards and letters should bear the name and address of the sender so that if the address is illegible, incomplete or incorrect, the letter can be returned to the sender.

Mrs. Starkey—Average Wife One Day, Paratrooper Next

NOTHING TO IT — Mrs. Andy Starkey, Route 1, is pictured following her first plane ride and first parachute jump in Yuma, Ariz.

By JOAN MACE
HERALD STAFF WRITER

Mrs. Andy Starkey, Route 1, was an average housewife one day — the next she was parachuting from an airplane 2,800 feet over a dessert in Yuma, Ariz.

Mrs. Starkey, former Janet Stuckey, is a 1959 graduate of Williamsport High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stuckey, Route 1.

She married Andy Starkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Starkey, July 9, 1959, in Yuma, Ariz., where he was on duty with the U. S. Army Airborne division.

Mrs. Starkey heard about the civilian parachute club which was going to organize in Yuma.

* * *

SINCE her husband was a paratrooper in the service, she said she would like to go to the meeting.

"I'd like to jump", she said, just kidding. But they took her serious and nine days later, Dec. 6, 1959, she made her first jump.

"I thought I must have been dreaming", she stated. "I didn't think I had enough nerve to go through with it".

But the day arrived following eight hours of ground training for her scheduled jump at an auxiliary airfield about 15 miles from Yuma.

"I still thought I couldn't go through with it", she said, " but a crowd had gathered and a photographer from a local newspaper was on hand, so I couldn't let them down".

Sandwiched between two parachute packs, she turned to her nervous husband and said, "see you on the ground".

* * *

"I DIDN'T say a word once I was in the plane, a tri-pacer", she said. "It just did not seem real".

"Once I was up in the air, and everything ready I just closed my eyes, put my feet out the door and jumped", stated Mrs. Starkey.

"When I opened my eyes my parachute opened and there I was, just gliding in the sky". "All I could think was, I did it". "It was the happiest felling I have ever had", she said.

Mrs. Starkey made a successful no-broken bones landing.

"I called my mother and she refused to believe me" she said. "My father wouldn't even let me ride on a motorcycle, when I was home".

Her third jump was the only one where she received injury. "The wind was blowing rather hard that day and I landed on a run-way strip." "I felt I had broken every bone in my body", she said, "but I was just bruised".

"That cured me from being scared", she stated. Mrs. Starkey made approximately 16 jumps in six months.

She entered in California competition May 7, 1960. Now she is the proud owner of a trophy for the best woman paratrooper.

But the lovely young lady is grounded right now. Not because of broken bones, but she and her husband are expecting the first addition to their family in March.

"I plan to make my next jump in April, that is if the doctor will let me", she said.

She and her husband plan to make their home in the Circleville area since his release from the U.S. Army Airborne in September.

"We'd like to form a club for interested local residents", she said.

"Parachute jumping gets in your blood just the way horses or dogs do for some people", Mrs. Starkey stated.

Ex-Attorney Ordered to Repay Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court Tuesday gave a disbarred Canton attorney until Jan. 5 to raise about $1,500 or serve a full jail sentence for contempt.

John G. Beyogides told the court he needed time to raise money to repay a $102 fee accepted from Norma Raper in a case involving her mother's will and $1,436 in court costs.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt said after a conference with the six judges that postponement would be granted if Beyoglides posted bond of $1,500. Beyoglides agreed.

Beyoglides was arrested in Canton Monday and brought before the high court by George Papadopulos, Canton captain of detectives, to be sentenced for contempt. The court previously indicated Beyoglides would receive 60 days in jail, with 30 days suspended if he returned the Raper fee and paid costs of that case.

Beyoglides was disbarred May 6, 1959 for soliciting law business. His contempt conviction followed for continuing to practice law and failure to heed a Supreme Court order to surrender his attorney's license.

He also is under indictment on a charge of insurance fraud in Summit County, Beyoglides said.

Defeated Toledoan Asks Vote Recount

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—John T. Holzemer, Democratic state representative defeated in a bid for re-election, asked a recount Monday.

Holzmer ran fifth in the race for four Lucas County seats, trailing Republican Raymond E. Hilderbrand by 246 votes. Holzemer had 86,608 votes.

The Democratic incumbent asked a recount of 200 of the county's 640 precincts, excluding the 105 precincts where machines were used.

Holzemer posted $2,000 to cover the cost of the recount.

Plight of Filipino Woman Typifies Problem of Medics

NEW YORK (AP)—The plight of a woman doctor from the Phiippine Islands typifies the problem facing many foreign physicians practing in this country.

"If they want to deport me," she said Monday, "I will go home. I won't say I'm stupid. They say I'm stupid. But I am humiliated. I will carry this with me when I go back to Manila."

The doctor, on the staff of a Municipal Hospital in the Bronx, is one of 1,902 foreign internes and resident physicians over the country who failed to pass qualifying examinations for study in the United States.

Best information available here was that there were about 8,000 foreign internes and physicians taking the tests in the nation.

They are in this country under an exchange-visitor program and face possible discharge and deportation.

Many of them are training in New York City.

The American Medical Association last week granted a six-month reprieve to foreign doctors who failed the exam, by allowing them to remain on hospital staffs until next June 30.

But after Jan. 1 they may not care for patients end may work only in such places as laboratories.

The AMA set up the program for the accrediting tests more more than two years ago.

The situation has embarrassed the State Department and medical groups and hospitals, which say they now face doctor shortages.

The Filipino doctor, 31, has a straight-A rating at her hospital.

She was graduated in 1953 from Manila Central University with the degree of doctor of medicine and practiced privately in Manila for five years.

The doctor, whose identity was not made public by the hospital, now makes a salary of $3,180 a year and is senior resident physician in pediatrics. He superiors have priased her work, calling her training record "outstanding —a record such as you have never seen."

Why then did she fail the exam?

"I am not used to that kind of test," she answered. "It was the objective type, with multiple-choice answers. At home we took mostly essay-type questions."

The Educational Council for Foreign Graduates, of Evanston, Ill., which administered the tests, said about 2000 foreign doctors in New York State took the exams, and 72 per cent of them qualified. The others failed.

Ohio Loan League Says Savings Show Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Savings and Loan League said today its member firms have reported increases in savings of 118 per cent in October of this year over October of 1959. At the same time, the ratio of withdrawals to savings increases fell off 24 per cent in the same period, said Joseph E. Linville, the league's executive secretary.

Rescue Crews Bringing Out Crash Victims

KAYSERI, Turkey (AP) — U.S. and Turkish rescue crews today worked in rugged terrain to bring out the bodies of three Americans and two turks killed in the crash of a light Army plane Monday.

Among the dead are Robert M. Carman, 44-year-old communications engineer with the National Scientific Laboratory in Washington, of 1742 Elmwood Ave., Defiance, Ohio, and Levi W. Boyce, 57, a civilian employed by the Army section of the Joint U.S. Military Mission for Aid to Turkey, of Waupaca, Wis.

The name of the American pilot was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Also killed in the crash were a Turkish army master sergeant and a civilian interpreter.

The twin-engin plane was enroute to eastern Turkey when it went down in rugged terrain. Reports from the area said the plane burst into flames as Turks from the tiny village of Kuseli worked to pull out the bodies. A team of members of the U.S. military mission set out for the scene today on horseback.

MAKES OWN NEWS—Texas Rangers say identity of the man who robbed banks in Thornton and Schulenburg has been established as Lawrence C. Pope, 42, who publishes weekly newspapers in Giddings and Lexington. A composite sketch (lower) made from descriptions was picked as Pope (upper) by dozens of persons as the robber who forced bank employes to pose in lewd positions for photographs at each of the robberies.

U.S. Does 'Poor Job' Telling Objectives

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Pierre Salinger, press secretary to President-elect John F. Kennedy, said today the United States has done a poor job recently of telling the world what its objectives are and what it is doing for other nations.

"Many people all over the world tended to regard us as the No. 2 world power and the Soviet Union as holding the top position," Salinger told reporters at a news conference.

"Neither Sen. Kennedy nor I believe this is accurate and the impression has to be corrected and the realization of such a position avoided."

Salinger spoke before leaving for the United States after a two-week vacation here.

Ex-Attorney Ordered to Repay Fund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court Tuesday gave a disbarred Canton attorney until Jan. 5 to raise about $1,500 or serve a full jail sentence for contempt.

John G. Beyogides told the court he needed time to raise money to repay a $102 fee accepted from Norma Raper in a case involving her mother's will and $1,436 in court costs.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt said after a conference with the six judges that postponement would be granted if Beyoglides posted bond of $1,500. Beyoglides agreed.

Beyoglides was arrested in Canton Monday and brought before the high court by George Papadopulos, Canton captain of detectives, to be sentenced for contempt. The court previously indicated Beyoglides would receive 60 days in jail, with 30 days suspended if he returned the Raper fee and paid costs of that case.

Beyoglides was disbarred May 6, 1959 for soliciting law business. His contempt conviction followed for continuing to practice law and failure to heed a Supreme Court order to surrender his attorney's license.

He also is under indictment on a charge of insurance fraud in Summit County, Beyoglides said.

Defeated Toledoan Asks Vote Recount

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—John T. Holzemer, Democratic state representative defeated in a bid for re-election, asked a recount Monday.

Holzmer ran fifth in the race for four Lucas County seats, trailing Republican Raymond E. Hilderbrand by 246 votes. Holzemer had 86,608 votes.

The Democratic incumbent asked a recount of 200 of the county's 640 precincts, excluding the 105 precincts where machines were used.

Holzemer posted $2,000 to cover the cost of the recount.

Plight of Filipino Woman Typifies Problem of Medics

NEW YORK (AP)—The plight of a woman doctor from the Philippine Islands typifies the problem facing many foreign physicians practing in this country.

"If they want to deport me," she said Monday, "I will go home. I won't say I'm stupid. They say I'm stupid. But I am humiliated. I will carry this with me when I go back to Manila."

The doctor, on the staff of a Municipal Hospital in the Bronx, is one of 1,902 foreign internes and resident physicians over the country who failed to pass qualifying examinations for study in the United States.

Best information available here was that there were about 8,000 foreign internes and physicians taking the tests in the nation.

They are in this country under an exchange-visitor program and face possible discharge and deportation.

Many of them are training in New York City.

The American Medical Association last week granted a six-month reprieve to foreign doctors who failed the exam, by allowing them to remain on hospital staffs until next June 30.

But after Jan. 1 they may not care for patients end may work only in such places as laboratories.

The AMA set up the program for the accrediting tests more more than two years ago.

The situation has embarrassed the State Department and medical groups and hospitals, which say they now face doctor shortages.

The Filipino doctor, 31, has a straight-A rating at her hospital.

She was graduated in 1953 from Manila Central University with the degree of doctor of medicine and practiced privately in Manila for five years.

The doctor, whose identity was not made public by the hospital, now makes a salary of $3,180 a year and is senior resident physician in pediatrics. He superiors have priased her work, calling her training record "outstanding —a record such as you have never seen."

Why then did she fail the exam?

"I am not used to that kind of test," she answered. "It was the objective type, with multiple-choice answers. At home we took mostly essay-type questions."

The Educational Council for Foreign Graduates, of Evanston, Ill., which administered the tests, said about 2000 foreign doctors in New York State took the exams, and 72 per cent of them qualified. The others failed.

GUILTY—Tony Accardo, 54, a Chicago multi-millionaire and reputed king of Chicago's crime syndicate, walks down a corridor in the Chicago Federal Building after being found guilty by a jury of falsifying his income tax returns to save $3,995. Freed on bond, Accardo faces a possible nine-year prison sentence.

At the same time, the ratio of withdrawals to savings increases fell off 24 per cent in the same period, said Joseph E. Linville, the league's executive secretary.

Rescue Crews Bringing Out Crash Victims

KAYSERI, Turkey (AP) — U.S. and Turkish rescue crews today worked in rugged terrain to bring out the bodies of three Americans and two turks killed in the crash of a light Army plane Monday.

Among the dead are Robert M. Carman, 44-year-old communications engineer with the National Scientific Laboratory in Washington, of 1742 Elmwood Ave., Defiance, Ohio, and Levi W. Boyce, 57, a civilian employed by the Army section of the Joint U.S. Military Mission for Aid to Turkey, of Waupaca, Wis.

The name of the American pilot was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Also killed in the crash were a Turkish army master sergeant and a civilian interpreter.

The twin-engin plane was enroute to eastern Turkey when it went down in rugged terrain. Reports from the area said the plane burst into flames as Turks from the tiny village of Kuseli worked to pull out the bodies. A team of members of the U.S. military mission set out for the scene today on horseback.

Second Carrier Sent to Caribbean

BOSTON (AP) — The carrier Wasp, her crew trained in anti-submarine tactics, weighed anchor Tuesday, maneuvered into the channel and sailed for troubled Caribbean waters.

Relatives and girl friends of the 2,400-member crew waved farewell as the big ship began her trip under orders local Navy officials admitted were unexpected.

Instead of having Thanksgiving dinners ashore — many at their own homes or those of relatives or friends—the crew will have its holiday dinner at sea.

The Wasp has been ordered to relieve the aircraft carrier Shangri La which bases at Mayport, Fla.

The Shangri La and five destroyers presently are on patrol off Central America.

WHAT'S COOKIN' is what this bird wants to know as he casts a wary eye around for Thanksgiving season axtivity.

Obelisk Mystery To Be Explained by Inscription

By JAMES FLOWERS
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK — Up in Central Park there's a 3,500-year-old Egyptian obelisk which has baffled visitors for 77 years, mostly because of the strange hieroglyphics etched into its granite.

People, it seems, are just naturally curious about such things. They stare at the 69-foot, 224-ton shaft, then walk around its base—looking for a translation of the ancient scribblings. There are none. Although Department of Parks archivists have had the answers for years, for some strange reason there has been no money to erect plaques for the translations.

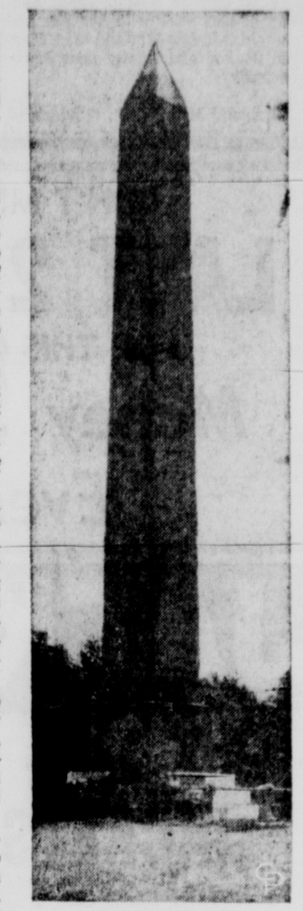

However, park visitors will soon be able to clear up the obelisk "mystery" because of a recent gift to the city of four plaques inscribed with the translations. They will be set at the base of each of the four sides of the obelisk.

The gift comes from movie mogul Cecil B. CeMille, who somehow got wind of the public's deciphering dilemma. Not one to stand idly by while such a fascinating monument remained anonymous to thousands of passers-by, DeMille immediately made arrangements with the city for the erection of the plaques.

"My offer is inspired by my deep abiding love for New York City where I spent much of my youth", he said. "The obelisk was erected the year I was born and I used to play near it when I was a child more than 70 years ago."

When, in 1869, the Khedive Ishmail of Egypt offered one of two obelisks (the other now stands in London) to the American consul, he felt he was perfectly safe in making the presentation, confident it would be refused. Well, sir, you could have knocked the khedive over with a fez when the consul accepted the obelisk and then presented his gift to the City of New Nork.

Steps were undertaken for its removal. One day a Lieutenant Corringe arrived in Alexandria harbor with the old steamer Dessoug prepared to take the obelisk away, but he found himself confronted with every possible obstacle and much was done to foil him.

Cleopatra's Needle

'The resourceful Corringe cut a hole in the bow below the water line while the ship was in dry dock, drew a shaft through the opening, straightened it around to be parallel with the keel and replaced the bow plates. Then with the plinth and steps safely in the hold, he sailed for New York.

William H. Vanderbilt picked up the shipping tab of more than $100,000. And on Feb. 22, 1881, the ancient monolith was officially accepted by the city.

Briefly, the inscriptions on the once pink granite — it is now brown — monument are self-praise by three chest - thumping Pharaohs, tracing their ancestry to Ra the Sun God.

Pharaoh Thomthmes III had the monlith quarried at Syene in Upper Egypt in honor of his father and had it set up in front of the Temple of On (the Sun) at Heliopolis. On the center column on each face he had this message inscribed for posterity:

"He is the king of Upper and Lower Egypt, Throthmes III, who has made this monument in honor of his father Tum, the lord of Heliopolis, the pyramidion being covered with gold - metal." Then the bashful Pharaoh wound up his essay in granite by saying of himself that "no one has ever done what he did."

About 200 years later, Rameses II took most of the left - over space and proclaimed that he "protects Egypt and smitse all the foreign nations." Rameses also found room to get in a plug for himself by writing that "he is the Sun's offspring, a kind ruler like Ra. . . who is well versed in the laws and awe-inspiring in his works."

Some 400 years after this, Osarkon I spotted 20 feet of uncluttered granite along the edges and squeezed in the assertion that he, too, was "the Sun's offspring".

The obelisk, already slandered by the undeserved nickname of "Cleopatra's Needle", has had a rough life. In 500 B. C. Cambyses, the disrespectful Persian, invaded Egypt, overthrew the obelisks and plundered the temples.

The New York "needle" lay for nearly 500 years partly covered with sand. The position is clearly indicated by the erosion and destruction of the hieroglyphics on the exposed surfaces by salt crystals and sand storms.

In 12 B. C., the Romans brought the obelisks to the harbor of Alexandria to celebrate their conquest of Egypt. There the much - abused monument stood until the frisky khedive tried his Indian - giving act.

Then, two years after the obelisk had found a home in Central Park pieces of rock began to fall. Worried archivists decided that the New York weather was too severe for the Needle. So in 1885 they impregnated its surfaces with a special process consisting of parafin wax. Fortunately, the preservative worked, and has prevented what would have been the rapid disintegration of the oldest and most interesting monument in America.

The obelisk is a connecting link between ancient and modern history, between an ancient monarchy and a modern democracy. Of the thousands who daily pass it in the park few realize that the granite shaft was familiar to Moses, and 1,500 years later was seen by Joseph and Mary when they fled to Egypt with the infant Jesus.

Incidentally, Rameses — neglected to mention in his share of the obelisk that his daughter had pulled out of the bulrushes a baby, later known as Moses.

Ohioan Wins $135,000 in Damage Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jury has awarded $135,000 damages to a man who said he was injured in the crash of a kite he was riding in a television stunt.

Alphonso Woodall, 37, of Cleveland, Ohio, said he was pulled too fast by a car towing him on his 13-by-10-foot kite and crashed from 75 feet.

The injuries—suffered March 25, 1959—barred him from ever flying again, Woodall testified Tuesday. He was working for the TV show "You Asked For It" at the time.

Defendants were Wayne Steffner Productions Inc. and four individuals. They filed a motion asking the judge to set aside the verdict and make his own judgement.

Woodall tossed aside his crutches and dived into Lake Erie on Oct. 20, 1959, to rescue a duck hunter whose boat capsized in high waves. For that he was awarded a Carnegie Medal last January.

In Cleveland Woodall's wife said when her husband telephoned her the news they talked of plans to buy a house and get him started again in the television repair business. There are five children in the family which has been on relief much of the time since Woodall's accident.

Vets Cannot Get 2 Pensions

Only One Payment Provided by Law

Questions of interest to ex-servicemen should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, Jim Shea. His office is in the basement of the Court House.

Q — I am a World War I veteran with a service - connected disability and am receiving compensation. When I become 65 years of age, can I also draw a pension as well as my compensation?

A — You may draw both compensation and pension at the same time. The law provides that you can receive whichever of the two is the greater, but you can not draw them both at once.

Q — I am the widow of a Spanish - American War Veteran, and I would like to know if I would benefit under the new pension law. I am currently receiving $65 per month. Would I get more under the new law?

A — Spanish - American War veterans' widows are not eligible for benefits under the new pension law, and if such widows could change over to the new law, the highest rate they would receive would be $60 per month.

Q — I receive a Total Non Service Connected Pension each month in the amount of $78.75. If I should to to a VA Home and live in a barracks would my pension check be reduced? If so, how much, and will I receive the withheld portion back when I am discharged from the home? Also, if I should change over to the new pension law, what would the story be under the same situation?

A — Under the old law, if you should be admitted to a VA Home, your pension would not be reduced for six months. After that, it would be reduced by one half and upon discharge, the withheld portion would be returned to you. Under the new law, your pension would be reduced to only $30 per month after two months, and none of the withheld portion would be returned to you after your discharge.

Q — I am a World War I veteran, and have decided to remain under the old Pension Law, and to continue to receive $78.75 per month. I am expecting an inheritance in the near future, probably about the first of next year which will throw my income over the $2700 limitation. I realize that this will cause my pension to be discontinued for the balance of 1961, but when I re-apply for pension in 1962 can I resume it under the old law, or will it be under the new law?

A — It will be under the new law. Once a veteran is taken off the old law he must re-apply under the new law.

Q — I am a Korean veteran, discharged seven months ago. I have a disability which I feel occured in the service. Is there a deadline for applying to the VA for compensation?

A — There is no deadline for applying for compensation. However, if you apply within one year from date of discharge, and claim is allowed, it will date back to the first day after your discharge. If you apply after one year, payments are effective only as of the date you apply.

Return of Witness

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About three years ago Phoenix attorney John B. Marron was taking an evening walk when he noticed a speeding car grind to a halt and the driver dash down an alley.

Police arrived a few minutes later and Marron described the fleeing man. The description led to the arrest and conviction of Sammie E. Gardner for the robbery of a Phoenix bank.

Recently Gardner asked for a new hearing and a court-appointed lawyer. Superior Judge Laurens L. Henderson checked the list of available attorneys and appointed — John B. Marron.

Cancer Kills Ike Aide

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ellison Ketchum, 52, the man who headed the fund-raising drive for the Eisenhower Library at Abilene, Kan. died Monday of cancer.

LOVE IN BLOOM—An entranced Jack Benny listens to Kokomo Jr. play Jack's famous "Love in Bloom" violin at a black-tie dinner and dancing party the comedian gave for about 500 persons at the Automat in New York. He gave $2 worth of nickels to each guest. After the party, Jack said, "I know. A lot of people made money. A lot of people didn't eat—they just took the nickels."

Bright Young Men Destined To Be Brighter when Older

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bright older men, a very bright robot and what makes glowing fish bright are subjects this week for science at work:

In Favor of Age

The bright young men are not as bright as they will be when they are bright older men.

The scientist who reported this, Dr. William A. Owen of Purdue University, checked the mental ability of 127 men against their U. S. Army intelligence scores in 1919. They proved brighter on the average by 70 per cent than their old scores.

That was in 1950. Now Dr. Owen has embarked on another study of the same men—to see how they score now and how their life patterns were influenced by their mental ability.

The Face is Familiar

A new robot that will be able to recognize friends from strangers is being fashioned by British scientists. They hope to make it able to talk in electronic squeaks, to see read and write.

The machine will have an eye of 100 photoelectric cells, its brain will have 4,000 cells. University of London researchers are trying to equip it with the ability to distinguish important problems from unimportant ones. They expect to have it operating in about a year.

A Slight Delay

How well we do a job appears to depend on how closely our minds check the work while we are doing it.

Psychologists set volunteers to some simple writing chores, tracing figures and writing simple words. The volunteers watched their hands at work in a television monitor. By using a TV tape recorder, the psychologists were able to delay by a fraction of a second the subject's impression of what he was doing.

With the delay the figure tracings became wildly marked by scribbling and the simple words were illegible or misspelled.

Glimmer

Crystals of the stuff that makes fireflies and luminous fish glow in the dark have been extracted from a South Pacific fish the Japanese call kinme modoki. U. S. and Japanese scientists had to dissect more than 4,000 luminous organs from fish before they had enough of the material to isolate a crystal. It was the third time a chemically pure, luminescent substance had been isolated, the first two times from fireflies.

Classification

CORTEZ, Colo. (AP) — A businessman here has classified fellow merchants as to age by observing them.

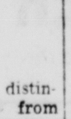

These are his conclusions:

Ages up to 35: Girl watchers.

Up to 45: Bird watchers.

Above that: Watchers of time and temperatures on the big clock outside a local bank.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

T. B. From Telephones

- Periodic Heaviness
- Clotting
- Ovary Removal

Q. What is the risk of infection with t.b. from telephones?

A. Tuberculosis germs are projected when infected persons cough or sneeze. If they cough or sneeze directly into the mouthpiece there would be some danger of another user picking up t.b. germs. This danger might be reduced by removing the mouthpiece and washing it with soap and hot water. It should then be swabbed with an antiseptic solution. It might be simpler to cover the mouthpiece with a piece of facial tissue, which may be discarded after use.

Q. About a week before my time my legs get "heavy" and I have the distinct sensation of gaining weight. Is this normal?

A. The feeling of leg "heaviness" may be more real than fancied. Several medical investigators state that about 25 to 30 per cent of women gain weight just before each period. The temporary gain in weight, which may amount to several pounds, is due to increased accumulation of tissue fluids. The condition, then, isn't so unusual and should not be alarming. However, your doctor can recommend measures to help.

Q. What causes menstrual clots?

A. Medical authorities generally agree that menstrual blood usually congeals or clots, but is liquefied by vaginal enzymes before it is expelled. A deficiency of the vaginal substances would result in the passing of clots. The presence of small clots in menstrual blood is not abnormal or unusual. However, the occurrence of large clots calls for medical consultation.

Q. If both ovaries are removed are shots needed later?

A. Removal of the ovaries during reproductive years brings on an "artificial" menopause. Hormone injections may be required for a time to help the woman adjust.

Questions directed to Science Editors, P. O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:
Better Health Through Knowledge

T. B. From Telephones

- Periodic Heaviness
- Clotting
- Ovary Removal

Q. What is the risk of infection with t.b. from telephones?

A. Tuberculosis germs are projected when infected persons cough or sneeze. If they cough or sneeze directly into the mouthpiece there would be some danger of another user picking up t.b. germs. This danger might be reduced by removing the mouthpiece and washing it with soap and hot water. It should then be swabbed with an antiseptic solution. It might be simpler to cover the mouthpiece with a piece of facial tissue, which may be discarded after use.

Q. About a week before my time my legs get "heavy" and I have the distinct sensation of gaining weight. Is this normal?

A. The feeling of leg "heaviness" may be more real than fancied. Several medical investigators state that about 25 to 30 per cent of women gain weight just before each period. The temporary gain in weight, which may amount to several pounds, is due to increased accumulation of tissue fluids. The condition, then, isn't so unusual and should not be alarming. However, your doctor can recommend measures to help.

Q. What causes menstrual clots?

A. Medical authorities generally agree that menstrual blood usually congeals or clots, but is liquefied by vaginal enzymes before it is expelled. A deficiency of the vaginal substances would result in the passing of clots. The presence of small clots in menstrual blood is not abnormal or unusual. However, the occurrence of large clots calls for medical consultation.

Q. If both ovaries are removed are shots needed later?

A. Removal of the ovaries during reproductive years brings on an "artificial" menopause. Hormone injections may be required for a time to help the woman adjust.

43-Day Term Started by Congressman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ward M. Miller of Portsmouth is in Washington to be sworn in as interim congressman from the 6th District in southern Ohio.

Miller, a Republican, obtained his certificate of election from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown on Monday. He is taking the oath of office for a 43-day term, but will never sit in a session of Congress. He will be succeedel Jan. 4 by William Harsha Jr., Portsmouth Republican, who was elected to a full term last Nov. 8.

Miller, also a member of the State Board of Education, was elected to the remainder of the term of the late U.S. Rep. James G. Polk, a Democrat who died 17 months ago. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle delayed election of a successor for the short term to coinside with the Nov. 8 balloting.

Miller, who said he will be in office until midnight Jan. 3, added that he intends "to stay on the job in Washington and fulfill all the duties of my office." He said he was entitled to make six appointments to the three service academies from his district.

Deposed Turk Premier Freed during Trial

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (AP)—Deposed Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes today was acquitted of charges that he ordered the killing of an illegitimate child born to him and an opera singer.

The verdict was handed down by the special high court trying Menderes and scores of his associates on a series of charges including violation of the constitution.

It also acquitted an Istanbul Gynecologist Dr. Fahri Atabey, who was accused of killing the child on Menderes' orders. The acquittals were the first in the Yassiada mass trials which opened Oct. 14.

Menderes failed to show any reaction when the verdict was announced but Atabey broke into a grin.

A string of witnesses in what has come to be known as the "baby case" testified the child, born in June, 1955, was premature and died before Atabey arrived.

The prosecutors charged that Menderes dispatched Atabey to the house of Miss Ayhan Aydan the premier's mistress to murder the infant and thus hide its illegitimate birth.

Although found innocent of infanticide, Menderes still faces grave accusations of tampering with the Turkish constitution during his 10-year rule. He could be sentenced to death if convicted of these charges.

Cleveland Returning To Fulltime School

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Board of Education has started action to put 8,400 school children back on a fulltime educational schedule.

Due to shortage of classrooms and teachers, the pupils now are attending classes on a half-day basis.

"We have a mandate from the voters," board president Ralph W. Findley said Monday. "And we owe it to the children."

He referred to passage of operating and building levies by large majorities in the Nov. 8 election. Both had been turned down last May.

The board requested a priority list on buildings to be provided by School Supt. Mark C. Schinnerer at the next meeting Dec. 5 and named a committee to study the problem of recruiting teachers.

Bishop Denies Puerto Ricans Face Penalty

CHICAGO (AP)—The archbishop of San Juan, Puerto Rico, has flatly denied that Roman Catholics in that country will be punished for disobeying a church order on voting in a national election.

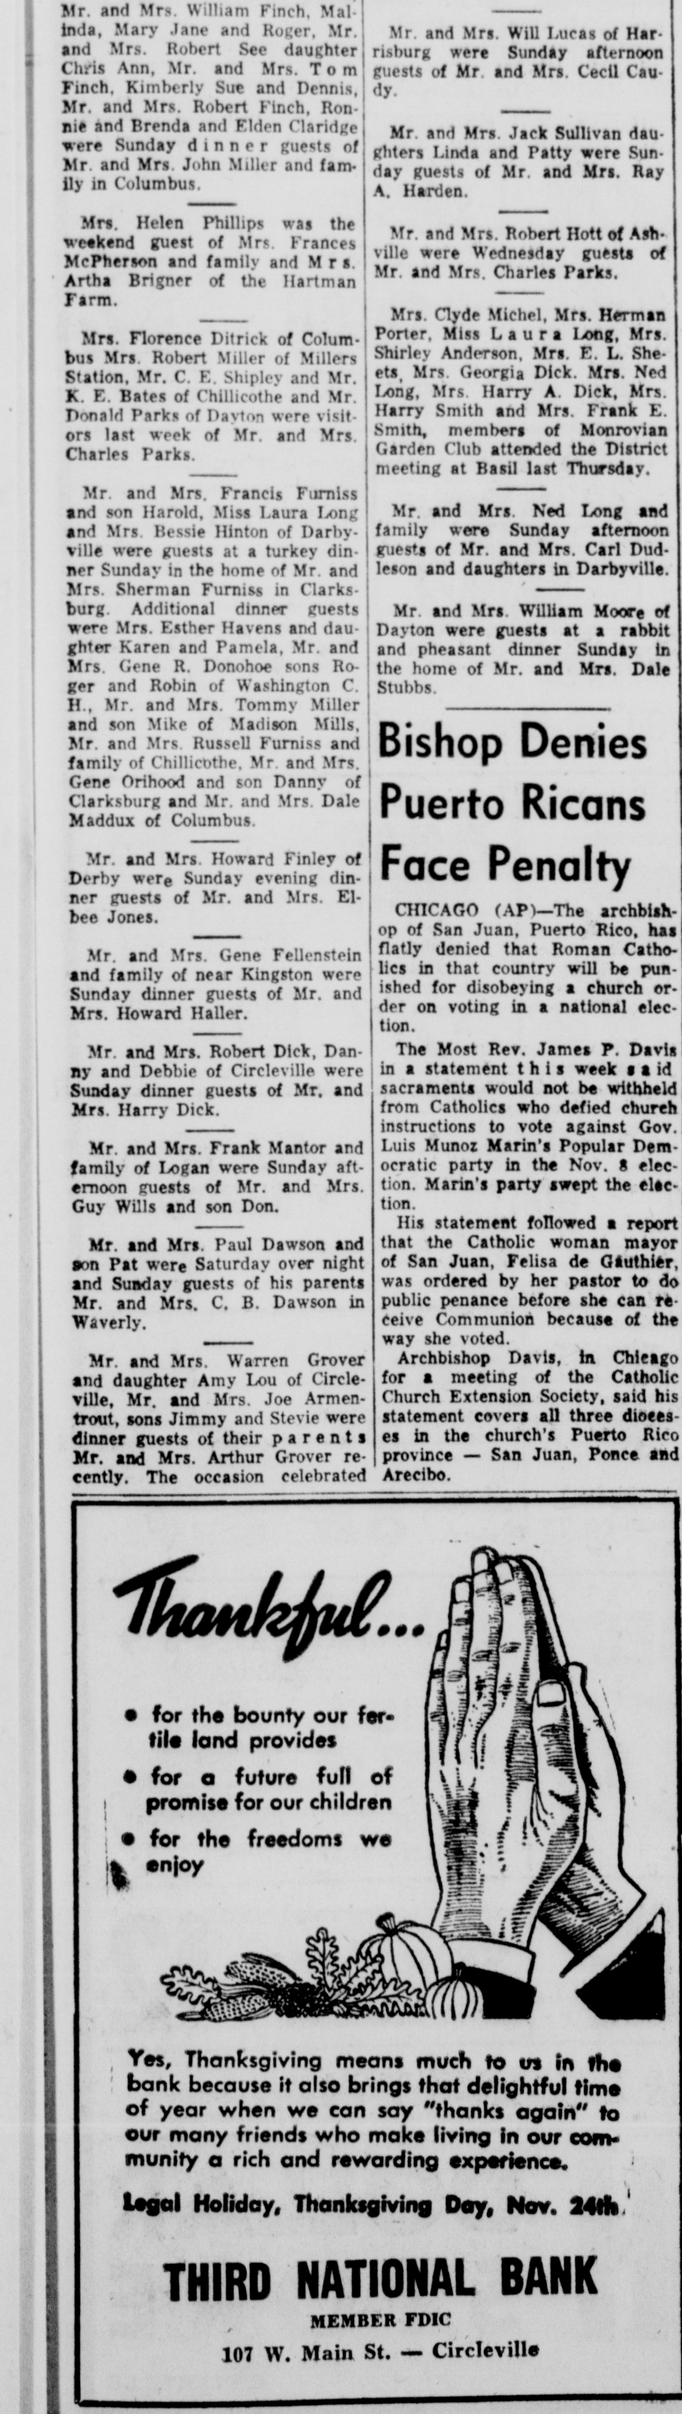

The Most Rev. James P. Davis in a statement this week said sacraments would not be withheld from Catholics who defied church instructions to vote against Gov. Luis Munoz Marin's Popular Democratic party in the Nov. 8 election. Marin's party swept the election.

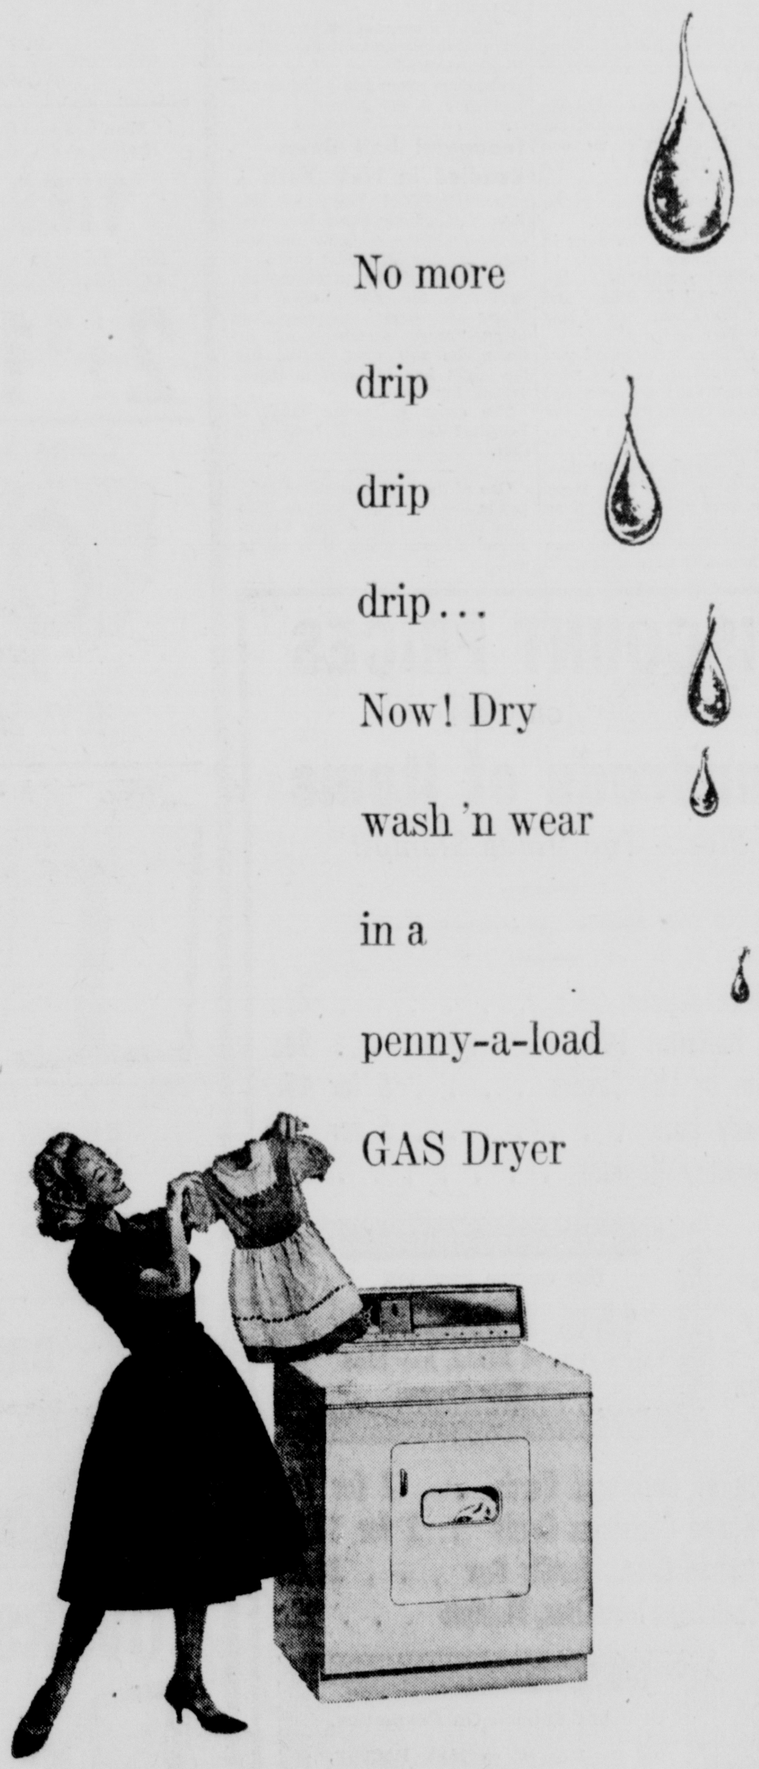

His statement followed a report that the Catholic woman mayor of San Juan, Felisa de Gauthier, was ordered by her pastor to do public penance before she can receive Communion because of the way she voted.

Archbishop Davis, in Chicago for a meeting of the Catholic Church Extension Society, said his statement covers all three dioceses in the church's Puerto Rico province — San Juan, Ponce and Arecibo.

Days of Cheer To Stockholder Now at Hand

But Some Are Fearful Yearend Dividend To Be Somewhat Skimpy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The days of extra Christmas cheer for stock holders are at hand. And some fear yearend dividends will be neither as plentiful nor as big this year as last.

But they are starting to trickle out from the board of directors' rooms, along with a heartening quota of increased dividends in spite of the supposed business gloom.

In recent days Du Pont has announced it will tuck a yearend dividend into its stockholders' stockings. It won't be as hefty as last year but payments for the year as a whole will come to $6.75 against 1960's total of $7 a share.

Christiana Securities, a holding company investing largely in Du Pont stock, will pay its share owners a total of $500 this year against $525 a share a year ago.

Stockholders with less costy issues, and smaller returns, aren't being entirely forgotten. Yearend dividends in the last few days have been voted by Central Steel & Wire Youngstown Steel Door and Time, Inc.

Increased dividends are helping the morale of many stockholders within the last week or so, directors of 17 companies have increased the regular dividend payments, compared to four who have cut them.

One of the latest to raise the ante is the Martin Co., which upped the common stock dividend to 50 from 40 cents a share. The directors of the missiles, electronics and nuclear enterprise also approved a two-for-one stock split.

Extra or special dividends are also flowing out in good numbers. These aren't yearend payments. But many stockholders who may have been missing a regular quarterly check should find in the extras still another reason for being thankful Thursday.

In the last eight days 51 companies have announced extra or special payments.

A sobering note in all this flow of good cheer—the number of increased dividends has been declining in each quarter of this year, and the number of decreased or omitted dividends has been rising.

In spite of this result of the squeeze on corporate profits, the Department of Commerce notes that in the first nine months of 1960 all cash dividends ran 5 per cent ahead of the previous year in the first quarter of 1960. By midyear the increase was down to 7.9 per cent, and by Sept. 30 it had skidded further to 7 per cent. But for the year as a whole it seems sure of setting a record.

CAPTURED REBEL—One of a force of rebels caught in a squeeze between Nicaraguan and Costa Rican government forces following an abortive invasion of Nicaragua, a rebel prisoner still carries his rifle on the Costa Rica-Nicaragua frontier.

Noblest of All Awards Is Coveted Nobel Prize

By JAMES H. WINCHESTER
Central Press Association Correspondent

Stockholm, Sweden — On Dec. 10 — 64th anniversary of the death of the great Swedish chemist, Dr. Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite — a handful of the most accomplished individuals in the world will gather in Stockholm, Sweden. They are this year's winners of the Nobel Prizes.

These honors — each winner receives a cash award as well as an eight - ounce gold medal — have been awarded in four fields: literature, medicine, physics and chemistry. A fifth award — it was not awarded this year, as it hasn't been several times in the past—is made to the individual or organization judged to have done most during the year in promoting world peace.

These coveted awards are given by the Nobel Foundation, set up under Dr. Nobel's will to administer the awards and supervise the funds which provide the prize money. The man responsible for running the foundation is Nils K. Stahle, its executive director.

A scholarly - looking, gray-haired man of 59, with an academic air and soft way of speaking, Stahle is a unique combination of financier, lawyer, diplomat and public relations expert.

"Take finance for instance," Stahle says. "The foundation now has more than $13 million in invested funds. The interest from these investments provides the prize money for each year's winners.

"Because interest rates and dividends vary from year to year, depending on world conditions the amount of prizes likewise varies. This year the four class winners will each receive approximately $43,625."

Alfred Nobel — King Gustaf Adolf

The Nobel prizes for physics and chemistry are based on selections made by the Swedish Academy of Science. Prize winner for medicine — this year there are two winners in this classification, Australia's 61-year-old Sir Frank Macfarlane and British Zoologist Peter Brian Medawar — is chosen by the Caroline Institute of Stockholm, a medical school and research center.

Prize winner for Literature is selected by the Swedish Academy in Stockholm. This year's winner is the French poet-diplomat, Saint-John Perse, 73, who makes his home in Washington, D. C.

The winner of the Peace Prize is selected by a committee elected by the Norwegian Parliament and this prize — when it is conferred—is awarded in a separate ceremony also on Dec. 10, in Oslo, Norway.

Over the years, the Nobel Foundation has run into several instances where political parties in specific countries have refused to let their citizens accept a Nobel Prize.

In 1937, for instance, Nazi Germany forbade any German to accept a Nobel Prize. This edict resulted from the awarding of the 1935 Nobel Peace Prize to Carl von Ossietzky, a German pacifist. He had been sentenced to a Nazi concentration camp without trial as a "traitor". As a substitute the Hitler government set up its own annual prizes. Likewise, today, the Russians have set up the Stalin Prizes.

The nominations for the Nobel awards are made by former Nobel Prize winners, by members of the organizations that make the final selections, and by designated organizations in various countries.

"There have been instances of winners refusing the award money for personal reasons," says Stahle.

"Several years ago, a Nobel Prize was awarded to George Bernard Shaw, the great British dramatist. For several months he would have nothing to do with us. Finally, he was persuaded to accept the prize money.

"Shaw used it to establish a fund to promote Swedish - Anglo culture. Sigrid Undset, Norwegian author who won the 1928 Nobel Award for literature, donated her check to charity. So did Albert Einstein."

The prize money is tax free in Sweden, and usually the home country of the winner also waives the taxes.

In Sweden, the king makes the awards before a distinguished audience in Stockholm's massive Concert Hall. The Peace Prize ceremony takes place before an equally impressive audience in the main hall of Oslo University.

"On the day of the ceremony in Stockholm," Stahle explains, "I always take the winners to the Concert Hall well in advance and we have a dress rehearsal of how they are to receive the prizes.

"Some of them have heard you are never supposed to turn your back on royalty and are prepared to back away from the king for several hundred feet before reaching their seats.

"I have to explain that all they have to do is to take two steps backwards from his majesty, then two steps to one side. After that they can turn their backs on him and walk normally to their seats."

SPACE MONKEY PRESENTED TO SMITHSONIAN—Able, one of the monkeys, and the space capsules used in the first successful U.S. launching and recovery of animal life from outer space have been presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. The monkeys, Abel and Baker, were recovered after a 1,500-mile flight in a Jupiter rocket. Able died from causes not induced by the history-making flight. She has been preserved and is mounted in the capsule shown. Examining the display are Dr. Leonard Carmichael (left), Smithsonian secretary, and E. P. Warnken, president of the Cincinnati Test Laboratories.

Dayton Cop Resourceful In Arrest

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Patrolman Jim Sheehan, who stands his traffic post at Third and Main streets here, sometimes has to be pretty resourceful to catch violators. He's on foot and can't chase them.

The other day he saw a taxi cab that picked up a fare and then made an illegal right turn. Sheehan tried to wave the cabbie down, but the driver ignored him and sped away.

That really stirred up Sheehan's Irish. He stepped to a telephone booth and called the cab company. Pretending to be a customer, he complained that the driver in question had just passed him by. The cab company dispatcher said another taxi would be sent right away.

"No, I want that one, I want to talk to him" Sheehan said.

In a few minutes the cab pulled up . . . and again made an illegal turn.

Sheehan waved at him and walked over to the cab.

"Oh, are you my fare?" the cabbie asked.

"No, I'm not, but we're going to do a little business," the patrolman answered.

Sheehan wrote out a ticket and handed it to the driver.

Inaugural Ball Gown Readied in New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has a New York specialty shop working on designs for her inaugurat ball gown

The wife of the president-elect suggested the style, color and fabric she wants and even sent along "rough sketches" for the dress she will wear to the ball the night her husband is inaugurated Jan. 20.

The order is in the hands of Bergdorf Goodman of New York City.

One of the first suspension bridges in the world was built in 1826 over the Menai Strait near Caernarvon in North Wales. It is still in use.

A scholarly - looking, gray-haired man of 59, with an academic air and soft way of speaking, Stahle is a unique combination of financier, lawyer, diplomat and public relations expert.

"Take finance for instance," Stahle says. "The foundation now has more than $13 million in invested funds. The interest from these investments provides the prize money for each year's winners.

"Because interest rates and dividends vary from year to year, depending on world conditions the amount of prizes likewise varies. This year the four class winners will each receive approximately $43,625."

Alfred Nobel — King Gustaf Adolf

The Nobel prizes for physics and chemistry are based on selections made by the Swedish Academy of Science. Prize winner for medicine — this year there are two winners in this classification, Australia's 61-year-old Sir Frank Macfarlane and British Zoologist Peter Brian Medawar — is chosen by the Caroline Institute of Stockholm, a medical school and research center.

Prize winner for Literature is selected by the Swedish Academy in Stockholm. This year's winner is the French poet-diplomat, Saint-John Perse, 73, who makes his home in Washington, D. C.

The winner of the Peace Prize is selected by a committee elected by the Norwegian Parliament and this prize — when it is conferred—is awarded in a separate ceremony also on Dec. 10, in Oslo, Norway.

Over the years, the Nobel Foundation has run into several instances where political parties in specific countries have refused to let their citizens accept a Nobel Prize.

In 1937, for instance, Nazi Germany forbade any German to accept a Nobel Prize. This edict resulted from the awarding of the 1935 Nobel Peace Prize to Carl von Ossietzky, a German pacifist. He had been sentenced to a Nazi concentration camp without trial as a "traitor". As a substitute the Hitler government set up its own annual prizes. Likewise, today, the Russians have set up the Stalin Prizes.

The nominations for the Nobel awards are made by former Nobel Prize winners, by members of the organizations that make the final selections, and by designated organizations in various countries.

"There have been instances of winners refusing the award money for personal reasons," says Stahle.

"Several years ago, a Nobel Prize was awarded to George Bernard Shaw, the great British dramatist. For several months he would have nothing to do with us. Finally, he was persuaded to accept the prize money.

"Shaw used it to establish a fund to promote Swedish - Anglo culture. Sigrid Undset, Norwegian author who won the 1928 Nobel Award for literature, donated her check to charity. So did Albert Einstein."

The prize money is tax free in Sweden, and usually the home country of the winner also waives the taxes.

In Sweden, the king makes the awards before a distinguished audience in Stockholm's massive Concert Hall. The Peace Prize ceremony takes place before an equally impressive audience in the main hall of Oslo University.

"On the day of the ceremony in Stockholm," Stahle explains, "I always take the winners to the Concert Hall well in advance and we have a dress rehearsal of how they are to receive the prizes.

"Some of them have heard you are never supposed to turn your back on royalty and are prepared to back away from the king for several hundred feet before reaching their seats.

"I have to explain that all they have to do is to take two steps backwards from his majesty, then two steps to one side. After that they can turn their backs on him and walk normally to their seats."

SPACE MONKEY PRESENTED TO SMITHSONIAN—Able, one of the monkeys, and the space capsules used in the first successful U.S. launching and recovery of animal life from outer space have been presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. The monkeys, Abel and Baker, were recovered after a 1,500-mile flight in a Jupiter rocket. Able died from causes not induced by the history-making flight. She has been preserved and is mounted in the capsule shown. Examining the display are Dr. Leonard Carmichael (left), Smithsonian secretary, and E. P. Warnken, president of the Cincinnati Test Laboratories.

Dayton Cop Resourceful In Arrest

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Patrolman Jim Sheehan, who stands his traffic post at Third and Main streets here, sometimes has to be pretty resourceful to catch violators. He's on foot and can't chase them.

The other day he saw a taxi cab that picked up a fare and then made an illegal right turn. Sheehan tried to wave the cabbie down, but the driver ignored him and sped away.

That really stirred up Sheehan's Irish. He stepped to a telephone booth and called the cab company. Pretending to be a customer, he complained that the driver in question had just passed him by. The cab company dispatcher said another taxi would be sent right away.

"No, I want that one, I want to talk to him" Sheehan said.

In a few minutes the cab pulled up . . . and again made an illegal turn.

Sheehan waved at him and walked over to the cab.

"Oh, are you my fare?" the cabbie asked.

"No, I'm not, but we're going to do a little business," the patrolman answered.

Sheehan wrote out a ticket and handed it to the driver.

The order is in the hands of Bergdorf Goodman of New York City.

One of the first suspension bridges in the world was built in 1826 over the Menai Strait near Caernarvon in North Wales. It is still in use.

2 Nine-Team Major Loops With Interleague Play Eyed

NEW YORK (AP) —A brand new plan—two nine-team majors with interleague play — appeared today as a strong possibility in 1961 with a new Washington team the ninth member in the American and Houston added to the National.

The revolutionary proposal was unanimously voted upon by the American League at its day-long meeting Tuesday and needs only the approval of the National to become a reality. Should the National reject the plan, the American definitely intends to pursue its original plan of 10 teams, including Los Angeles next year. The National voted against it a year ago.

If the plan goes through, it will be for one year only. In 1962, each league would go to 10 teams, with Los Angeles joining the American and New York the National.

The senior circuit, already committed to 10 teams in 1962 with franchises in Houston and New York, will answer the American during its annual winter meeting in St. Louis, Dec. 5. Should the reply be in the affirmative, each league would then adopt a 166-game schedule, an increase of 12 games.

This would encompass 112 intra-league games—14 against each team in its own league—and 54 interleague games — against each team in the rival league.

Commissioner Ford Frick, who has insisted on a "fair and equitable" settlement, has expressed favor with the plan.

Walter O'Malley, head of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the American League's biggest stumbling block, is enthusiastic over the idea. It was O'Malley's steadfast refusal to permit a rival in his territory that forced the American League to forego its decision to expand to 10 teams in 1961. At a meeting earlier this month the American permitted Cal Griffith to move his Washington club to Minneapolis-St. Paul and voted to grant franchises to a new Washington club and Los Angeles for 1961.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and a prime factor in the Americans' drive for a Los Angeles franchise, acknowledged the plans' sensibility.

"We recognized we would have a problem moving this fast into Los Angeles," he said, "regarding ticket selling, playing facilities, proper promotion and getting suitable playing dates. We feel we need more time to move in an orderly way."

Max Spangler led the winners with 15 points, followed by teammate John Wilkes with 12. Marv Rhoades and David Smith scored 11 and nine respectively for the loosers.

The revolutionary proposal was unanimously voted upon by the American League at its day-long meeting Tuesday and needs only the approval of the National to become a reality. Should the National reject the plan, the American definitely intends to pursue its original plan of 10 teams, including Los Angeles next year. The National voted against it a year ago.

If the plan goes through, it will be for one year only. In 1962, each league would go to 10 teams, with Los Angeles joining the American and New York the National.

The senior circuit, already committed to 10 teams in 1962 with franchises in Houston and New York, will answer the American during its annual winter meeting in St. Louis, Dec. 5. Should the reply be in the affirmative, each league would then adopt a 166-game schedule, an increase of 12 games.

This would encompass 112 intra-league games—14 against each team in its own league—and 54 interleague games — against each team in the rival league.

Commissioner Ford Frick, who has insisted on a "fair and equitable" settlement, has expressed favor with the plan.

Walter O'Malley, head of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the American League's biggest stumbling block, is enthusiastic over the idea. It was O'Malley's steadfast refusal to permit a rival in his territory that forced the American League to forego its decision to expand to 10 teams in 1961. At a meeting earlier this month the American permitted Cal Griffith to move his Washington club to Minneapolis-St. Paul and voted to grant franchises to a new Washington club and Los Angeles for 1961.

Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and a prime factor in the Americans' drive for a Los Angeles franchise, acknowledged the plans' sensibility.

"We recognized we would have a problem moving this fast into Los Angeles," he said, "regarding ticket selling, playing facilities, proper promotion and getting suitable playing dates. We feel we need more time to move in an orderly way."

Nationwide Alert Possible In Minutes

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's Conelrad alert system is being advanced to the missile age today with a signed agreement providing for a nationwide alert in less than 10 minutes.

Signatories to the agreement here are the Air Force, the Federal Communications Commission, The Associated Press and United Press International.

The agreement will integrate the entire facilities of the two major wire services for use as an alert system in event of a national emergency.

Under the new system of Conelrad, virtually every radio station in the nation could be notified in three to eight minutes after it was determined by the Air Force that under way.

A single man in the U.S. Air Dean enemy attack was likely or fense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., can trigger an alert to the two wire service news centers. Thousands of wire service machines would immediately alert radio broadcast stations throughout the nation to go on a Conelrad alert using special wave lengths.

Up to now, the alert system using telephonic communications took up to one hour.

The wire services would carry defense bulletins of national importance during the emergency.

Nationwide Alert Possible In Minutes

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's Conelrad alert system is being advanced to the missile age today with a signed agreement providing for a nationwide alert in less than 10 minutes.

Signatories to the agreement here are the Air Force, the Federal Communications Commission, The Associated Press and United Press International.

The agreement will integrate the entire facilities of the two major wire services for use as an alert system in event of a national emergency.

Under the new system of Conelrad, virtually every radio station in the nation could be notified in three to eight minutes after it was determined by the Air Force that under way.

A single man in the U.S. Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., can trigger an alert to the two wire service news centers. Thousands of wire service machines would immediately alert radio broadcast stations throughout the nation to go on a Conelrad alert using special wave lengths.

Up to now, the alert system using telephonic communications took up to one hour.

The wire services would carry defense bulletins of national importance during the emergency.

Massillon Wins Ohio Grid Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The opposition couldn't "hold that Tiger"—so Massillon is still Ohio's high school football champion.

The terrific Tigers tutored by Leo Strang took the 960 title and the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy today in the season's final Associated Press poll, adding them to the ones they earned a year ago.

Massillon has retired two of the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophies, emblematic of the state championship. It must be won three times for permanent possession, and the current triumph gives the Tigers a "leg" on the new one. No other school has ever retired the coveted trophy.

This is Massillon's ninth championship since the sports writers' poll was inaugurated in 1947. The Tigers won seven straight, from 1948 through 1954. Barberton's Magics won the first one in 1947, Canton McKinley triumphed in 1955 and 1956, Cleveland Benedictine in 1957, and Alliance in 1958.

Thus, 12 of the 14 championships have gone to Stark County teams. Of the 42 votes cast in the final poll only four are from Stark County.

Niles McKinley finished second, 131 poll points back of the leader on the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis. Then came Alliance, Sandusky, Dayton Colonel White, Cincinnati Purcell, Marion Harding, Toledo Central Catholic, Troy and Port Clinton. The eastern half of the state won the first three places, the west the other seven.

The Massillon team survived an upset setback at the hands of Warren Harding to remain on the throne. The 10-1 season gave Strang a record of 28 wins, 2 losses an da tie in his three years at the Tiger helm—and could boost him into a college job.

Only Dayton Colonel White, a newcomer to the big-time wars, Cincinnati Purcell and Johnny-come-lately Port Clinton of the Top Ten finished with unblemished records. Purcell won nine straight, the other two 10 in a row. Port Clinton made its lone appearance among the elite in the final ratings, displacing Lima Senior in the tenth spot.

B-W Granted Spot in Ohio Conference

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — Baldwin-Wallace College, a onetime member of the league, was re-admitted to the Ohio Conference Monday night by a vote of the athletic directors and faculty representatives of the 14-team conference.

The Berea school must serve a one-year probationary period, according to conference regulations. A final vote will be taken at the 1961 fall meeting of the conference.

Baldwin-Wallace would not be eligible for the 1961 conference football title because of the lateness of its entrance in the academic year, and because, at the moment, it has scheduled games with only four conference schools. The minimum is five.

But if the Yellow Jackets are accorded full membership, they will be eligible for basketball and all other sports whose seasons start after the vote is taken.

B-W, with an enrollment of 1,350, incuding 666 men "is the same kind of college we are," said one conference athletic director. The school will bring into the conference one of the largest stadiums in the league. The B-W athletic field stadium has capacity of 11,000, topped only by Akron's Rubber Bowl with 35,482.

Gophers Get Invite to Rose Bowl

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rags-to-riches Minnesota aims to avenge Big Ten honor when the Gophers battle Washington's Huskies in the 47th Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena on Jan. 2.

Cellar dwellers in the conference last year, with Coach Murray Warmath hung in effigy, the Maroon and Gold came back as co-champions winning Tuesday night's bid to oppose the Huskies who whipped Wisconsin 44-8 last New Year's Day.

Yet it appeared only speculation that another contract binding the Big Ten and the Rose Bowl would be negotiated. From 1947 until last Jan. 1, the Big Ten by pact sent a representative to the Bowl. This time Minnesota was chosen from at large.

Minnesota's faculty - controlled Senate approved the bowl opportunity this time but said it was instructing its athletic commitee to oppose future Big Ten participation.

Co-champions of the Big Ten, the Gophers were voted the No. 1 team in the nation by the Associated Press poll, after closing out their season with an 8-1 record. They brought memories of the pre-World War II powerhouses. Washington, voted No. 4 was 9-1.

Minnesota never has played in the Rose Bowl and prior to this season had won only 5 of their last 24 games. Although they beat Iowa 27-10, the Gophers lost to Purdue the following week and wound up tied with Iowa for the conference crown.

North Carolina's football team flubbed seven straight conversions this fall before Bob Elliott made two extra points. They came in NC's 27-14 loss to Tennessee.

Massillon Wins Ohio Grid Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The opposition couldn't "hold that Tiger"—so Massillon is still Ohio's high school football champion.

The terrific Tigers tutored by Leo Strang took the 960 title and the Rutgers Hall of Fame Trophy today in the season's final Associated Press poll, adding them to the ones they earned a year ago.

Massillon has retired two of the Rutgers Hall of Fame trophies, emblematic of the state championship. It must be won three times for permanent possession, and the current triumph gives the Tigers a "leg" on the new one. No other school has ever retired the coveted trophy.

This is Massillon's ninth championship since the sports writers' poll was inaugurated in 1947. The Tigers won seven straight, from 1948 through 1954. Barberton's Magics won the first one in 1947, Canton McKinley triumphed in 1955 and 1956, Cleveland Benedictine in 1957, and Alliance in 1958.

Thus, 12 of the 14 championships have gone to Stark County teams. Of the 42 votes cast in the final poll only four are from Stark County.

Niles McKinley finished second, 131 poll points back of the leader on the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis. Then came Alliance, Sandusky, Dayton Colonel White, Cincinnati Purcell, Marion Harding, Toledo Central Catholic, Troy and Port Clinton. The eastern half of the state won the first three places, the west the other seven.

The Massillon team survived an upset setback at the hands of Warren Harding to remain on the throne. The 10-1 season gave Strang a record of 28 wins, 2 losses an da tie in his three years at the Tiger helm—and could boost him into a college job.

Only Dayton Colonel White, a newcomer to the big-time wars, Cincinnati Purcell and Johnny-come-lately Port Clinton of the Top Ten finished with unblemished records. Purcell won nine straight, the other two 10 in a row. Port Clinton made its lone appearance among the elite in the final ratings, displacing Lima Senior in the tenth spot.

B-W Granted Spot in Ohio Conference

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — Baldwin-Wallace College, a onetime member of the league, was re-admitted to the Ohio Conference Monday night by a vote of the athletic directors and faculty representatives of the 14-team conference.

The Berea school must serve a one-year probationary period, according to conference regulations. A final vote will be taken at the 1961 fall meeting of the conference.

Baldwin-Wallace would not be eligible for the 1961 conference football title because of the lateness of its entrance in the academic year, and because, at the moment, it has scheduled games with only four conference schools. The minimum is five.

But if the Yellow Jackets are accorded full membership, they will be eligible for basketball and all other sports whose seasons start after the vote is taken.

B-W, with an enrollment of 1,350, incuding 666 men "is the same kind of college we are," said one conference athletic director. The school will bring into the conference one of the largest stadiums in the league. The B-W athletic field stadium has capacity of 11,000, topped only by Akron's Rubber Bowl with 35,482.

Gophers Get Invite to Rose Bowl

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rags-to-riches Minnesota aims to avenge Big Ten honor when the Gophers battle Washington's Huskies in the 47th Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena on Jan. 2.

Cellar dwellers in the conference last year, with Coach Murray Warmath hung in effigy, the Maroon and Gold came back as co-champions winning Tuesday night's bid to oppose the Huskies who whipped Wisconsin 44-8 last New Year's Day.

Yet it appeared only speculation that another contract binding the Big Ten and the Rose Bowl would be negotiated. From 1947 until last Jan. 1, the Big Ten by pact sent a representative to the Bowl. This time Minnesota was chosen from at large.

Minnesota's faculty - controlled Senate approved the bowl opportunity this time but said it was instructing its athletic commitee to oppose future Big Ten participation.

Co-champions of the Big Ten, the Gophers were voted the No. 1 team in the nation by the Associated Press poll, after closing out their season with an 8-1 record. They brought memories of the pre-World War II powerhouses. Washington, voted No. 4 was 9-1.

Minnesota never has played in the Rose Bowl and prior to this season had won only 5 of their last 24 games. Although they beat Iowa 27-10, the Gophers lost to Purdue the following week and wound up tied with Iowa for the conference crown.

North Carolina's football team flubbed seven straight conversions this fall before Bob Elliott made two extra points. They came in NC's 27-14 loss to Tennessee.

DuPont Picks Buffalo Site For New Plant

The DuPont Co. today announced plans to build a plant to manufacture Teslar PVF Film at Buffalo, N. Y., where the new industrial film was developed and is now being produced on a semiworks scale at the company's Yerkes Research Laboratory.

In announcing its plans, the company noted that the presence of the semiworks and of Laboratory personnel experienced in the new manufacturing process were factors which would keep startup problems and costs at a minimum, and that the high power requirements of the process could be met by the existing power facilities at the Buffalo plant.

Circleville had been one of the locations seriously considered as a possible site for the new plant. Richard E. Heckert, manager of the Du Pont Circleville Plant, said the final choice of Buffalo as a site was dictated by "practical economic considerations.

"These considerations", Dr. Heckert added, "in no way reflect lack of appreciation for the good business climate of central Ohio nor any lack of confidence which would keep Circleville from being considered for new projects or expansions as the opportunities arise in the future."

Teslar PVF Film has outstanding weatherability, toughness and chemical inertness. It is expected to find major markets in outdoor applications as a protective and decorative surfacing material, for wood material and composition building materials and as a glazing material.

The metermaid agreed to forget the parking ticket — and she handed Bruton a citation for jaywalking. Cost: $3.
